

Munitions Ship Reported In Tow Of Her Attacker

Spanish Sailor Describes How He Made His Escape SAVED BY FRENCH Survivor Expresses Belief "All Spaniards Shot"

Aracbon, France.—(AP)—Declaring he last saw the shell-pounded trans-Atlantic munitions ship, Mar Cantabrico, in tow of the insurgent warship Canarias, Juan Poo, a Spanish seaman, related today a dramatic story of escape under bombardment in the bay of Biscaia.

His story indicated the Mar Cantabrico might not have been sunk and that her $2,700,000 load of American munitions might have fallen into the hands of the insurgents.

Poo, picked up out of the sea by a French fishing boat after he leaped from the shelled and burning Mar Cantabrico, said he believed the ship's 17 passengers and 130 crewmen had mostly been taken aboard the Canarias and that "all the Spaniards were shot." Two of the passengers were "North Americans," he said.

Poo declared he leaped overboard with an Italian sailor when he saw the French fishing boat Camelleve nearby. The Italian drowned but he reached the French vessel and was hauled aboard.

Badly Damaged

He last saw the Mar Cantabrico being towed slowly by her attacker, the Canarias, in the direction of the Spanish coast, "badly damaged but not in immediate danger of sinking."

(The Canarias reported last night to a British destroyer she had sunk the Mar Cantabrico, carrying munitions from the United States and Mexico to government Spain.)

Three small Spanish insurgent freighters helped the Canarias capture the Mar Cantabrico, Poo declared.

With hold No. 2 hit and afire, the insurgents sent a boarding party onto the Mar Cantabrico. They imprisoned the crew, Poo related.

It appeared, he said, that all the cargo of the Mar Cantabrico, including eight United States planes destined for government forces, might have fallen into insurgent hands.

The sailor asserted the long confusion in the identity of the stricken vessel was due partly to the fact that the Mar Cantabrico had painted the name "Adda of Newcastle" on her side and had taken the Adda's radio call letters.

The "Adda" is a British ship of about the same tonnage.

"The Canarias discovered the submarine and began shelling us as we were heading for Santander," the sailor said.

"I'll tell you and started a fire in No. 2 hold."

"It was then that we sent our S.O.S. using the call letters of the Adda."

"Soon afterward, numerous ships came alongside of us. Officers from the Canarias came aboard to examine us and make a search."

"Then transported to the Canarias, I was captured. I hid myself with eight of my comrades and, when a French boat passed nearby, I threw myself overboard and tried to reach it swimming. I was lucky. I got there."

"I believe all the Spanish citizens taken aboard the Canarias were shot."

Expect Roosevelt To Make Strong Court Plan

Opponents Await Address Before Perfecting Their Own Strategy

Washington.—(AP)—Leading allies of President Roosevelt expect him to contend tonight that his court reorganization program is the only practical means yet suggested to meet what he has called "a grave national crisis."

Some White House callers had the impression today that in his radio "fireside chat" the president would give to the country arguments, he has been making to members of congress in favor of his court bill. He will broadcast at 9:30 p. m. central standard time.

Opponents awaited his talk before perfecting strategy for senate hearings on the proposal, which began tomorrow. They already were lining up farm, religious and liberal leaders to counter testimony by Attorney General Cummings and other administration supporters.

Some officials said they believed the president would emphasize his view that the constitution does not bar legislation like the AAA, NRA or the Guftay coal act, and that those laws were invalidated by justices out of step with the times.

Firm for His Plan

Whether he would close all doors to compromise or challenge the opposition to suggest a better way to change the viewpoint of the supreme court majority "now" were subjects of speculation.

Farm and organized labor leaders siding with him reported the president adamant for his program last December.

Cheese Factory Burns, Loss Is Over $10,000

Rice Lake, Wis.—(AP)—Fire yesterday destroyed the Angus Cheese factory north of here with a loss estimated at more than $10,000.

Julius Studer, factory owner, was away because of illness when neighbors saw flames coming from the boiler room. A bucket brigade failed to check the blaze which was fanned by a strong wind.

About 10,000 pounds of Swiss cheese and a large quantity of butter, valued at more than $3,000, were destroyed in the fire.

Defer Action On More Funds For New School

Board of Education Opposed to Curtailing Building Plans

MEET TONIGHT

Council May Seek Additional Grant on $85,000 for Equipment

The common council last night deferred action for a day on the school board's request for an additional appropriation to permit awarding of contracts for the new senior high school without curtailing the present building program.

Seymour Gmeiner, president of the board, asked the council for a decision so that contracts may be let Wednesday, the last day which will permit starting construction on time next Monday. The council will meet at 7:30 tonight to decide on granting the request.

Bids received by the school board Saturday exceeded the original estimated cost, $875,000, by about $107,000. Gmeiner explained that bids were higher due to rising costs of materials since application for the PWA grant was made. He brought out that the delay of about a year and a half before the government grant was allowed was neither the fault of the school board nor the council.

Cut Could Be Made

By shifting $15,000 of the $25,000 allotted for landscaping plus the $10,000 saved in the purchase of the site to about $80,000, Gmeiner explained.

Alderman Thompson suggested transferring the $85,000 allotted for equipment to construction and that the council make application for another government grant on the equipment. He said the equipment would not be needed immediately, and if the grant were not allowed the city would then pay the entire cost. Gmeiner told the council that additional grants have been made by the government in similar cases where costs were higher than the original estimates and requests for additional grants made.

"Mindful of the ever increasing cost of materials and labor," Gmeiner said, "the school board did not include in the plans a number of items at first proposed. In spite of these precautions the bids still exceeded the appropriation."

Favors Entire Program

He felt it to be a good policy to carry out the entire program on which bids were received as it would save the city money later.

Commission Can't Regulate Private Drivers Under Act

Supreme Court Finds Public Service Body Assumed Power Illegally

Madison.—(AP)—The state supreme court declared illegal today the assumed power of the public service commission to regulate the working hours of the drivers of some 115,000 private carrier trucks.

The tribunal sustained a circuit order forbidding commission interference with the drivers of the Gardner Baking company, Madison, and the Colvin Baking company of Janesville. The decision affects all other companies and individuals designated as private carriers under the motor transportation act of 1933.

As a safety measure the commission had directed the two bakeries to limit the working time of their drivers to 12 hours a day, 60 hours a week and not more than 40 hours in any consecutive day.

Private carriers are those whose vehicles are not offered for hire, but are operated exclusively for their own business. They are required to obtain permits under the transportation act, but the law did not specify application to them the regulation of hours imposed on common and contract carriers.

Court's Findings

The high court opinion, by Justice Chester A. Fowler, said the lack of specific application, clearly showed the legislative intent. The opinion said:

"There is no more need for drivers of such (bakery) trucks to be regulated as to hours of service than

Nine Sentenced in Black Legion Case

Get One to Five Year Terms for Conspiracy To Kill Publisher

Detroit.—(AP)—Nine men were sentenced today to prison terms of one to five years each for a Black Legion plot to kill Arthur L. Kingsley, newspaper publisher of Highland Park.

The sentences were pronounced by Recorder's Judge John V. Brennan, who convicted the men a week ago after hearing a month-long trial without a jury. Seven of the 16 defendants were acquitted.

Among those sentenced were N. Ray Markland, former mayor of suburban Highland Park, and Arthur F. Lupp, Sr., once milk inspector for the Detroit Board of Health and named by investigators as Michigan commander of the secret society.

The men were convicted of plotting to shoot Kingsley in 1933 because of his political opposition to Markland, who then was mayor but later was defeated for reelection.

Judge Brennan told the men he did not sentence them to five-year terms because none had a criminal record. All nine will be eligible for parole at the end of the minimum one-year terms.

The others sentenced were Alvin Clark, a former automobile plant foreman; Rudyard Kipping Wellman, a garage owner; Willard Foster, suspended Highland Park fireman; Frank Howard, suspended fire captain; Matthias O. Gunn, suspended street railway fireman; Hubert James, and Roy Jenner, a Black Legion "colonel."

Faints 3 Times as She Faces Slaving Charge

New York.—(AP)—Weeping hysterically, Mrs. Berne Barnofsky, 45-year-old mother-in-law to death with a hammer, fainted three times today enroute to the lineup at police headquarters.

Each time she was revived and made ready to go onto the platform of the 175-pound mother of three children collapsed.

Police finally cancelled the formality of her appearance in the lineup.

She was removed to the Parkville police station, in Brooklyn, and booked on a charge of murder.

The alleged slaying came to light when Celia Barnofsky, 15, a granddaughter, discovered the aged victim's body, with the skull battered by a series of hammer blows, lying in bed at the Barnofsky home in Brooklyn.

Vandenbush's Pal Indicted in Bank Holdup in New York

White Plains, N. Y.—(AP)—James Rera, accused of "putting the finger on" a Katonah bank preparatory to a holdup by a trio headed by Merle Vandenbush, Wisconsin outlaw, was indicted here today on a first degree robbery charge.

Rera is accused with Vandenbush, Anthony Rera, a brother, and George Rera, a cousin, of a part in the $17,500 robbery of the Northern Westchester bank, on Feb. 25.

North Castle police captured Vandenbush and two companions a half hour after the robbery. James Rera was arrested Sunday night at his Brooklyn home.

Substitute Is Offered for Disputes Bill

New Measure Would Prohibit Sit-Down Strikes In State

ACTION IS DELAYED

41 Amendments to Measure Also Offered in Upper House

Madison.—(AP)—Introduction of 41 amendments and substitute measure forbidding sit-down strikes forced the senate today to postpone action for a week on the labor disputes bill.

The complete substitute, proposed by Senator Harry W. Bolens, (D), Port Washington, besides forbidding picketing of an employer's property, would require licensing of a labor union in order that it be considered a "bonafide labor organization" under terms of the bill.

Bolens would place administration of the bill in the hands of the industrial commission, rather than the new state labor relations board proposed in the original measure.

5-Day Notice

The substitute requires five days' notice to the employer and the commission before calling of a strike, and similar notice to the commission and workers by the employer in case of a discharge or lockout.

As a companion section to the Sigmund-Severson bills' description of unfair practices on the part of the employer, Bolens' plan sets up a series of unfair practices for employees, including the sit-down, violation of a collective bargaining agreement, picketing unless voted by a majority of workers, and coercion of an employee.

Bolens would add to unfair practices of employers employment of labor spies, refusal to deal with either majority or minority groups of workers, and dealing with any labor organization not representing his employees.

Would Reverse Ruling

By defining a labor dispute as occurring only between employer and employee, Bolens said his substitute would reverse the state supreme court's ruling in the American Furniture company case at Milwaukee in which the court upheld a bargaining unit, and in case of any dispute among workers of their representatives, the substitute directs the commission to hold a secret ballot on representation.

In effect the Bolens plan would outlaw employer-dominated company unions by denying them licenses.

Confesses He Drove Car In Fatal Auto Accident

Phillips, Wis.—(AP)—District Attorney L. A. Koenig said today he had a signed confession from Earl Morrow, one-armed farmer, that he was the driver of the car that killed Edward Prohaska and injured two other children Sunday night.

Fragments of a shattered headlight, Koenig said, had been traced from the scene of the accident to a car standing in the 23-year-old farmer's barn. The prosecutor said Morrow and two others in the car admitted they had been drinking.

The children were struck as they walked along the side of the road on their return from a church club party at a farmhouse.

Utility Extension Bill Has LaFollette Approval

Madison.—(AP)—Governor LaFollette signed today a bill forbidding private utility line extensions in the territory of an REA farm cooperative within six months after it files corporation papers with the public service commission and one year after it receives a federal loan. The law will apply only where a cooperative can show that most of the customers in the territory want to be served by it.

Senate Approves Election Measure

Cashman Bill Would Set Primary Date as Second Tuesday in September

Madison.—(AP)—The senate today passed the Cashman bill moving up the primary election from the third to the second Tuesday in September.

Two senators, John Cashman (P), Denmark, the author, and Joseph Clancy (D), Racine, criticized opposition to the bill by the League of Women Voters.

Cashman said the women's organization should devote its attention to "something worthy of the league," and suggested the league use its influence in trying to prevent crime.

Clancy called attention of the league to many more important things such as husband and wife both holding state offices.

Other bills passed by the senate would:

Permit a referendum in Milwaukee on a special tax for the benefit of the recreational division of the Milwaukee school board.

Reimburse the city of Hartford $238.69 collected by the state commissioner of insurance and not repaid because of failure of the fire chief to make specified reports.

Require applicants for marriage licenses to appear in person before a county clerk or different county clerks.

American Objections Force French Withdrawal of Loan Proposal in U.S.

Paris.—(AP)—A proposal by the French government that an unidentified New York bank handle its new national defense subscriptions in the United States has been dropped because of American objections.

Official sources said today:

"As far as we know, however, there is nothing to prevent Americans from buying through an American branch in Paris or through English banks," a government spokesman said.

But it is almost certain the loan to be announced Thursday after the French parliament has passed enabling legislation, will be covered by French money, the spokesman predicted.

A $50,000,000 subscription to the defense loan was reported earlier to have been pledged by the Paris branch of an American bank after Premier Leon Blum's government asked quick passage of the bills authorizing the issuance of bonds.

Strikers and Chrysler Officials Open Confabs In Union Controversy

Corporation President Is Turned Back by Pickets

75,000 AFFECTED

Governor Murphy to Return to Michigan From Florida

Detroit.—(AP)—The United Automobile Workers of America, seeking to enforce demands for exclusive bargaining rights by sit-down strikers affecting nearly 75,000 workers in the nation's automotive center, arranged a conference today with officials of the Chrysler corporation.

Richard T. Frankenstein, organization director of the U. A. W. A., said the meeting would be held at 1 o'clock (E. S. T.) in the Chrysler offices at the Highland Park plant, one of nine held by strikers.

He made the announcement a little more than an hour after K. T. Keller, corporation president, attempting to enter the offices, was turned back by pickets who barricaded the main gate.

Keller said that "from now on, they do it with the courts."

Frankenstein in telephone conversation with Herman L. Weckler, Chrysler vice president, expressed regret at the incident and assured Weckler it would "not happen again." The union leader said barricades would be removed and the corporation officials and their staffs would be admitted.

Murphy to Fly Home

Governor Frank Murphy, who devoted his first six weeks in office to settling the far-flung General Motors strikes, announced at Palm Beach, Fla., where he was vacationing, that he would fly back to Michigan immediately because of the new labor disputes.

All nine of the Chrysler plants in the nation's motor capital were closed by strikes called by the United Automobile Workers of America. They employ 55,391 of the 67,000 Chrysler workers.

The Chrysler plant at New Castle, Ind., with 4,150 employees, was closed by the company, which said it could not continue operations without supplies from Detroit units.

The Briggs Manufacturing company, which supplies Chrysler with bodies, closed one Detroit plant and part of another, throwing 1,500 out of work.

Hudson Strike

The Hudson Motor Car company's three manufacturing plants here also were closed by U. A. W. A. strikes, leaving 10,000 idle. Two small auxiliary factories employing 200 each, were not affected.

The Chrysler strikes were called yesterday afternoon and last night following the corporation's rejection of the United Auto Workers' demand for recognition as the sole bargaining agency.

The last of the units closed by strikes called by the union, where the main offices are located, it is there that representatives of the corporation and the U. A. W. A. have been conferring since last Wednesday on the union's demands.

Estimates of the number of strikers who remained in the plants during the night varied so that it was impossible to determine the total accurately. The strikers seized control of all plant entrances. Anyone who wished could leave, but no one was permitted to enter without a pass issued by the union.

Negotiations Wait

The negotiations between the union and General Motors corporation adjourned yesterday morning. They were reported to have been near final agreement on issues left unsettled when the strikes ended Feb. 11 before new strikes interrupted operations in some subsidiaries at Flint, Mich.

These new differences, however, were composed, temporarily at least.

SPURNS DEMAND

Packing Industry Grants Boost to 92,000 Employees

Increase Is Second in Five Months and Fifth Since 1932

Chicago.—(AP)—Wage increases of 9 cents an hour for more than 92,000 employees in the nation's meat packing industry were announced today by the "big four" packing companies.

It was estimated the pay hikes, the second within five months and the fifth since 1932, would fatten the workers' pay envelopes by more than $22,000,000 a year.

The increases, affecting all hourly paid and piece work employees, were scheduled to go into effect at the plants of Armour and Company, Wilson and Company, Swift and Company and the Cudahy Packing company next Monday.

Officials of the "big four" reported the new basic wage scale would be 62 cents an hour, an all-time peak in the packing industry and an increase of 26 cents over the low of 36 cents an hour which prevailed in 1932.

The companies announced the increases were decided upon following negotiations between the management and employee representatives. The company officials asserted the boosts were justified by the higher cost of living.

Affected by the new scale were 35,000 employees of Armour and Company, more than 27,000 employed by Swift and Company, 20,000 Wilson and Company workers and more than 10,000 in the employ of the Cudahy Packing company.

A 7 per cent wage boost was granted employees in the same classifications last November.

Deportation Case Against Child Is Ordered Dropped

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Uncle Sam today brought Mrs. Elsa Ward the best news she ever has received when he notified her of dismissal of deportation proceedings against her 3-year-old son, Jeremy William.

The curly-haired boy was named in a deportation warrant last November because he was born in England of an English father. Since then, Mrs. Ward, an American citizen who married the Englishman while visiting in London, had faced the prospect of separation from her son.

Mrs. Ward was married in 1931 and brought Jeremy to the United States May 12, 1934, when he was 8 months old. She explained American officials in England told her she could bring her boy back here without a visa or other papers, as long as he still was under 2.

The mother and son were detained at Ellis Island when officials learned he had been born in a foreign country. The government agreed to let the child enter the country on a six-month visitor's permit. Expiration of the permit led to routine deportation proceedings.

Advance Into Northern Part of Province—Madrid Is Goal

Avila, Spain. — General Francisco Franco's insurgent legions, splashing through muddy fields in a torrential rainstorm, battered their way down into northern Guadalajara province today in a big push at Madrid from a new angle.

The board thrust engaged three villages—Caston de Menares, Mirabueno and Madelena—and placed the nose of Franco's war machine up against government fortifications at Almadrones, about 60 miles northeast of Madrid.

The salient, if carried on to Madrid's inner defenses would comprise one-half of a "nut-cracker" with the other lever and jaw along the western and southern edge of the besieged city.

France's Guadalajara war machine, composed largely of Garibaldians as well as Foreign Legionnaires, has recently been reinforced for the southwestern movement. Weeks have been spent in preparation while snow, rain and cold delayed the offensive.

Other fronts, about Madrid and elsewhere, were reported comparatively quiet.

Janesville Man Beaten In Fight Over Estate

Madison — Otto Weiss of Janesville lost in the supreme court today his appeal from a ruling that the administrator of his mother's estate could deduct from his inheritance the amount of his indebtedness to the estate ordinarily barred by the statute of limitations.

The court affirmed the ruling of Green County Judge H. J. Lambory approving the account of Mrs. Conrad Weiss of Monroe.

In making her will the opinion by Justice Nelson said, Mrs. Weiss intended "that all notes signed by her children, whether barred or not, should be deducted."

Mrs. Weiss, who died in 1935, had assumed for $1,500 several notes signed by Otto Weiss prior to 1925. The bank deducted this amount plus interest from his share of the $10,000 estate which the will directed should be divided equally between her seven children. The others are William Weiss of Edgerton, Fred, Robert and Carl Weiss, Mrs. Frieda Taxacher and Mrs. Mary Kraus, all of Monroe.

Former Examiner Aird Findings in Bank Controversy

Says Liberty State's Bills Reduced Before Call, Increased Afterward

Milwaukee — Stanley N. Schafer, a former state banking commission examiner, testified yesterday he reported to his superior an examination showed the Liberty State bank's bills payable were reduced sharply before bank call day and increased again afterward.

This apparently was affected, he said by a $205,000 loan from the First Wisconsin National bank which he said appeared on the bank call report but not on the published report.

Schafer was later a commissioner and now is president of the First National Bank of Ft. Atkinson. He testified under adverse examination by Robert S. Marx, chief counsel for the First Wisconsin, defendant in a civil action brought by the commission to recover collateral posted with the First Wisconsin for loans made to the Liberty.

The commission charges the loans were illegal and were used for window dressing purposes. The Liberty bank closed July 18, 1932, with $1,101,605 worth of its securities (face value) in possession of the First Wisconsin.

Report Admissible

Circuit Judge John C. Kleczka ruled yesterday the examiner's report on the Liberty bank's condition as of Dec. 7, 1931, was admissible as evidence. Commission attorneys had fought its admission.

Schafer said he reported his findings to Carl L. Pitman, chief bank examiner for the commission. The report was not acknowledged, he said, and as far as he knew never acted on.

Testifying he asked Raymond Tieg, Liberty cashier, about the transaction, Schafer said he was told L. J. Rosenberg, president now in prison, was borrowing on personal notes and putting the money into the bank to reduce bills payable over call day.

I told Mr. Rosenberg this was objectionable and that it should be classified as a false statement," Schafer said. "He said it was his own personal affair and was done to benefit the bank."

At a directors' meeting which the witness said only a few attended, he testified he presented his objections to the transaction. At this time two of the five disputed loans had been made.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press

Meekport, Pa. — Joseph T. Sullivan left today on a street car, rode past his stop, protested the three additional car tokens assessed.

Magistrate Walter Morgan upheld the extra charge. Said he: "A car operator's job is to run his car, not keep his passengers awake."

No Bluffing

Trenton, Ohio — A woman jailed overnight for intoxication told Judge O. H. Henninger she would rather be spanked than return to a cell.

"It's your choice—spanking or jail," said the magistrate.

She chose the spanking. Police Clerk Charles Cooper obtained a bond and the prisoner bent over to receive the sentence. Cooper lifted the board, hesitated.

"You're free to go," said the judge to the prisoner. "Why don't you take up poker?"

Survey Being Made of Wolf River in County

A WPA project for conservation work along the river may be drawn up later, according to county WPA officials.

Firemen Summoned to Two Residences, Mill

A chimney fire at the Harold Worm residence, 1009 W. Barnes street, was extinguished at 10:40 last night. Earlier in the evening, an overheated motor in an automobile parked near the Y. M. C. A. prompted a call to the department, but the owner was not present when firemen arrived.

Approve Work of Contractors at Disposal Plant

Hold Up Part of Payment Until Clean-Up Work Is Completed

Work of Fluor Bros. and Smith Construction company and Hoffman Construction company on the sewage disposal system was approved by the board of public works at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Payment of $750 on the Fluor Bros. contract and $1,500 on the Hoffman company contract will be withheld until clean-up work is completed. It was brought out that this work will not be done until after the spring rains.

The R. J. Wilson Construction company and Koepke Bros. Construction company were instructed to jointly repair the Telulah road. The board accepted a car offered by Greeley and Hansen, consulting engineers on the job, which had been used by the firm on the project.

In addition to the clean-up work Fluor Bros. and Smith company still must make a number of minor adjustments on some equipment.

Cancellation of Tax Certificates Is Upheld

Madison — The supreme court today upheld cancellation of tax certificates against the lodge building of the Clinton, Wis., Knights of Pythias.

Rock county and the village of Clinton had appealed from an order of Circuit Judge George Grimm of Janesville cancelling the certificates for 1932, 1933, 1934 and 1935.

The decision written by Chief Justice Marvin Rosenberry held that so long as the use of the building was confined to members, the structure was exempt from taxation.

In a dissenting opinion Justice Edward Fairchild said the first floor of the building was designed for commercial use and that therefore it was taxable even if not rented for such use during the years in question.

State Produces Enough Sugar for 400,000 Persons

Report More Than 12,000 Acres of Beets Harvested Last Year

Enough sugar beets were produced in Wisconsin last year to provide 400,000 persons with their supplies of sugar for one year, J. F. Wojta of the state college of agriculture estimates in a report received by R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent. The statement was made on the basis of report from three factories that handle the Wisconsin crop.

The factories, located at Janesville, Green Bay and at Menomonie, Mich., report a total planted acreage of 14,141 of which 12,224 acres were actually harvested. A tonnage amounting to 116,644 tons of beets with an average yield of 9.53 tons to the acre, was produced by 3,314 Wisconsin growers.

The 21 sugar beet counties of Wisconsin include, Brown, Calumet, Clark, Columbia, Dane, Dodge, Door, Florence, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Jefferson, Kenosha, Kewaunee, Lincoln, Manitowish, Marathon, Marinette, Milwaukee, Oconto, Outagamie, Ozaukee, Racine, Rock, Shawano, Sheboygan, Walworth, Washington, Waukesha, Waupaca, Winnebago and Wood.

Planting Delayed

Nullification of the production control features of the agricultural adjustment act a year ago and the subsequent delay before the 1936 features of the Agricultural Conservation act had been determined, both worked to hold up planting plans with a consequent reduction in acreage over the preceding year.

In 1935, more than 4,800 farmers planted 22,423 acres compared to 14,141 acres planted last year.

Sugar beets, produced in Wisconsin, average about 14 per cent available sugar. Wojta stated. The percentage is higher in the northern counties but the tonnage yield is lower. On the basis of this average percentage of sugar, he estimated that the 116,644 tons of harvested beets would yield 32,639,439 pounds of refined beet sugar.

Allowing 65 pounds of sugar per person, the 1936 Wisconsin crop would supply nearly 400,000 persons with their usual amounts of sugar. That is approximately one person in seven in the state.

Although average yields for the state amount to 9.53 tons to the acre, as high as 20 to 30 tons to the

How Appleton Grew Under Its 30 Mayors Since 1857

(This is the fourth of a series of articles discussing Appleton's mayors and the important matters occurring during their administrations. These articles will appear once a week in the Post-Crescent.)

Extension of a telegraph line to Green Bay, which opened up service to Appleton, marked the first term of William Johnson as Appleton's mayor in 1862. He also served as mayor in 1863 and 1864.

A large fire engine was purchased by the city in 1863 and the council voted to buy a fire engine house. It was during this year that fire destroyed the woolen mill but plans immediately were started to rebuild it. The city arranged to use the county jail as a city lock-up until a city jail was built.

Agitation started in 1864 for a branch railroad track to serve water power industries and for a bridge across the river near the paper mills. Appleton and Superior streets were ordered opened and the woolen factory was rebuilt. Twenty acres of land for a cemetery were purchased on the bluff south of the large ravine at the east end of the city.

Before Mayor Johnson's term expired in 1865 the Appleton Gas and Light company was incorporated. The first city physician also was engaged by the council during Mayor Johnson's final term.

Replace Ties on Railroad Trestle

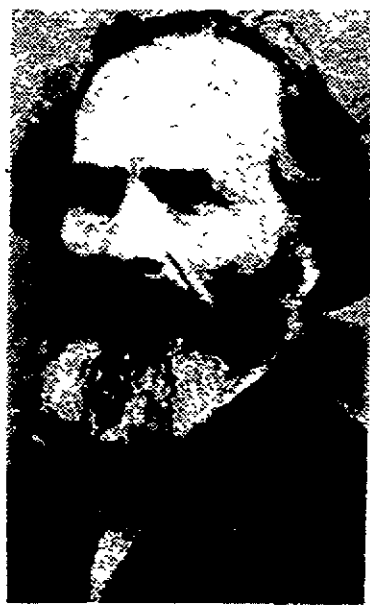

Repairing of the railroad trestle between the Atlas mill and the Chicago and North Western railway depot will be completed in about 10 days, according to William B. Basing, freight and passenger agent. Old ties are being removed and replaced with new ones, according to Mr. Basing.

Swanson Tells Lions

Of New Orleans Trip

R. L. Swanson, mathematics instructor at Wilson Junior High school, discussed his recent trip to New Orleans at the Lions club luncheon meeting Monday at the Conway hotel. Mr. Swanson illustrated his talk with movies of the trip.

He was reported to Wojta for some farms, particularly in the southern part of the state.

FOURTH MAYOR

Appleton's first city physician was engaged during the final term of William Johnson, above, who served as mayor in 1862, 1863 and 1864. Telegraph service to the city also was made available during his reign through an extension of a telegraph line to Green Bay.

Students Deposit $169; Withdraw $3 On Banking Day

Only $3.39 was withdrawn during the weekly banking period for Appleton pupils last week and a balance of $10,614.21 is now on deposit, according to Miss Ruth Wassmann. A total of $169.12 was deposited by 616 out of 1,699 students present on bank day.

Roosevelt Junior high pupils led the total deposited with $46.98 while the McKinley Junior High students had the highest percentage with 46 out of 102 pupils making deposits. Edison led the grade school division with $25.96.

Other deposits include deaf room, $1.01; Franklin, $4.47; Jefferson, $15.91; McKinley grades, $3.30; Edison, $25.96; Columbus, $11.61; Lincoln, $9.95; Washington, $3.49; opportunity room, 71 cents; McKinley Junior high, $6.23; Roosevelt, $48.98; Wilson, $29.30; sundries, $6.

Study Ratio of Broiler Returns To Poultry Costs

College of Agriculture Staff Member Compiles Report on Production

The ratio of broiler returns to chick production costs, with suggestions for poultry flock economies, is contained in a report to R. C. Swanson, county agent, from J. B. Hayes, extension poultryman of the state college of agriculture. The data was obtained from records obtained under farm conditions last brooding season.

For the last season the costs to 12 weeks were divided as follows: the price paid for chicks was 38 per cent, the amount spent for feed was 56 per cent and the purchase of fuel was 6 per cent. Returns from the sale of broilers was 55 per cent of the total investment to that time. Starting with 100 chicks, Hayes found the mortality to be 12 per cent. This was higher than that in previous years since the expected loss should not exceed 10 per cent. At the end of 12 weeks when the cockerels were sold or removed, there were 46 pullets on hand. Each pullet represented a cost to that time of about 30 cents.

This year the story will be different since feed price and possibly chick price will be higher. In most instances some saving can be expected by giving particular attention to the use of non-wasting feeders. Feeders from which the chicks cannot spill and waste feed.

Broiler prices, reflecting general poultry holdings and prices, may also be down somewhat. About that time, nothing may be done. Mortality may be reduced, however, by buying good chicks, well hatched, and then giving very strict attention to brooder temperature and general management.

Koehnke Leads Wilson Free Throw Tournament

Netting 16 out of 25 free throws, Bob Koehnke gained first place in the Wilson Junior High school free throw contest last week. Tom Reid and Charles Rollins are in second place with 14 successful tosses out of 25. Other leaders include Marvin Kotke, 13; Jack Williamson, 13; Allen Fraser, 13; Marilyn Clark, 12; Edward Luben, 12. Pairing for first round boxing matches will be made this week.

Native Wisconsin Trees Conservation Commission Tells How to Identify Them, Discusses Their Value to State

CHINQUAPIN OAK

This tree, also called Yellow Oak, is distributed sparsely over southern Wisconsin, extending up the Rock river above Janesville, up the Wisconsin to Saus City and up the Mississippi to Lynville. Recent reports show that it occurs as far east as southeastern Waukesha county. It grows on limestone ridges and on fertile bottom lands and the rocky banks of streams, reaching 30 to 100 feet in height and 3 to 4 feet in diameter.

The leaves, usually crowded on the ends of the slender branches, 4 to 7 inches long, the margin with sharp incurving or broad round teeth. The upper surface is light yellow-green, the under side of pale and covered with fine short hairs. The acorns grow singly or in pairs, sometimes on a short heavy stalk, the nut covered for one-half its length by the thick cup. The seed is sweet and somewhat edible.

The bark on the trunk, rarely one-half inch thick, is broken into thin loose pale gray scales. The wood is similar to that of the white oak and equal to it in quality.

This valuable tree was once fairly plentiful in several southwestern counties and should be favored where found or grown from seed.

Committee Opposed to Request of Builders

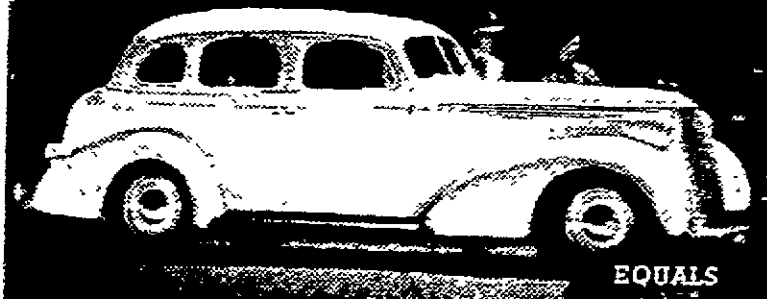

The ordinance committee at a meeting yesterday afternoon opposed a petition of local contractors to permit them to park their cars for an unlimited time on streets where they are doing construction work. The committee discussed a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance pertaining to setback lines on Wisconsin avenue but deferred action.

Erect Parking Signs on Packard, Richmond Sts.

Signs limiting parking to 90 minutes were erected on Packard street between State and Locust streets and on Richmond street between Franklin and Lorain streets yesterday by street department workmen. The common council restricted parking to clear up the congested traffic conditions on the two streets.

Margot Grahame agrees that Luckies are gentlest on the throat

"I've smoked Luckies for eight years—ever since I was introduced to them in London by an American motion picture producer. He put forward the very sensible argument that they are the gentlest cigarette in the world on the throat—and fine tobacco, too. Since then I have made many pictures, and I must say Luckies have always been considerate of my throat. In fact, my throat practically insists that I choose a light smoke—which is easy to understand in view of the voice strain picture-work entails."

Chair Company Employees Seek Raise in Wages

Scolding Locks Workers Also Asking Increase In Pay

Operations at the Appleton Chair company plant stopped this morning while officials pondered demands of about 100 employees for a raise in pay. The workers are asking a minimum wage of 40 cents per hour for new hands, 45 cents per hour for old hands and a 5-cent increase per hour for women employees.

R. W. Klotzsch, manager, told the employees to appoint a committee to meet with plant officials tomorrow morning to discuss the wage situation. In the meantime the plant will not be in operation.

Employees stated this afternoon that they did not intend to return to work unless their demands were met. They said that new hands are now being paid from 20 to 30 cents per hour while the old hands receive 34 cents per hour.

The afternoon session will open at 1 o'clock with an address by Gordon Dickerson of the University of Wisconsin's dairy records office and will continue with a talk by Lester Stevens, Manitowoc, president of the Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders' association.

Members of the Guernsey cow testing association have been urged to make a special effort to be present at the session. Reorganization plans will be considered, Swanson said.

Dairy Farmers Meet In Chicago Today

Chicago.—Representatives of the 14,500 Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana farmers who produce 85 to 90 per cent of the Chicago area's fluid milk are assembled today for the 24th annual meeting of the Pure Milk association.

The association is the cooperative marketing agency for dairy farmers who market 1,600,000 quarts of milk daily—a $25,000,000 annual business, according to an association official.

The official said the agency's milk shed covered an area of 2,570 square miles in the three states and that it supplied most of the fluid milk sold in Aurora, Joliet, Kankakee and Waukegan, Ill.; Beloit and Janesville, Wis.; South Bend, Gary and Hammond, Ind.

Polices for the ensuing year were expected to be set by the representatives of the 104 local units of the association.

Dime Store Clerks Are Still on Strike

Kenosha.—The strike of 90 women clerks in four Kenosha dime stores remained deadlocked today after managers of the stores and a bargaining committee of the retail clerks union failed to reach an agreement.

A conference between opposing sides was arranged yesterday through the Kenosha Trades and Labor council.

The women began picketing the stores Friday in demand for an average wage increase of $6 a week, raising their pay to an $18 to $20 a week level.

Managers said the stores would remain closed indefinitely pending word from their national offices.

Maritime Workers On Strike in France

Le Havre, France.—Maritime workers called a 12-hour strike today, shutting up all French ships in port, including the great liner Normandie, due to sail tomorrow with 500 passengers.

The French line, however, denied reports the strikers had occupied the Normandie and said only guards were aboard.

The Normandie only recently came out of drydock where she was overhauled in preparation for a new assault on the trans-Atlantic record, held by the Queen Mary.

About twenty ships, in all, were affected by the strike, called because the strikers were dissatisfied with an 11 per cent wage increase.

Lorena Berg Loses Her Court Battle For Reinstatement

Supreme Court Holds Personnel Bureau Exceeded Its Powers

Madison.—Miss Lorena Berg, Oshkosh graduate nurse, lost in the state supreme court today in her suit for reinstatement to the staff of the Winnebago State hospital, from which she was discharged by Superintendent Gilbert E. Seaman in December, 1935.

The high court ruled that the bureau of personnel, which ordered Dr. Seaman to re-employ Miss Berg as physiotherapy aid, a step below the rank of graduate nurse, exceeded its powers. The court said the bureau has no authority to compel the re-hiring of a discharged civil service employee in a demoted capacity.

Dr. Seaman accused Miss Berg of failure to carry out instructions and resorting to undue force in administering medicine to a resistant patient, Louys Panabaker. The personnel board, which first heard her appeal, found the charges did not warrant complete dismissal. Dr. Seaman, however, refused to comply with a board order that she be taken back at reduced rank.

The supreme court upheld the action of Circuit Judge Sherman E. Smalley in quashing a writ of compel the superintendent to comply.

Justice Chester A. Fowler, who wrote the opinion, declared there is a distinct difference between "reinstatement," a power conferred upon the personnel board, and ordering "re-employment" in another position.

"The personnel board has no power to direct the defendant superintendent to employ any particular person," Justice Fowler wrote, adding that the effect of its order in the Berg case would be to usurp that power.

Such a policy, the opinion said, could easily disrupt the service in a state institution.

Boys Hi-Y Clubs Plan Holy Week Observance

Plans for the district older boys conference and for the scheduled holy week observance will be discussed by the Hi-Y club cabinet at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A., according to C. Commission Can't Regulate Private Drivers Under Act the drivers of automobiles used by realtors in their business, or trouble men of public service corporations, or traveling salesmen driving their own automobiles.

Legal proceedings by which the city of Edgerton moved to acquire the local plant of the Wisconsin Power and Light company were upheld today by the state supreme court.

In an opinion by Justice Edward T. Fairchild the court ruled in effect that Edgerton Citizens knew what they were doing when they voted to acquire the property, part of which lies outside the city.

The company, which appealed from public service commission orders fixing the valuation, maintained the referendum question was not properly phrased and applied only to property within the city.

The property known as the Edgerton plant includes rural lines and equipment on which the commission had fixed a price of $5,000, to be added to the $90,000 appraisal of the city plant.

"If these lines are cut at the city boundary," the high court said, "those rural customers now served would be left without power. As a business proposition the ability to sell power to rural customers may well be of some advantage in the operation of the city distributing plant. These lines are, in that sense, used and useful for furnishing power within the city."

The court suggested the question really before the voters was whether the city should acquire the power system which serves it and that such question necessarily would include integral parts of the system that served others.

Seek Additional Funds to Build New High School

He pointed out that alternate bids could be considered but that they would mean leaving out nine classrooms, a loud-speaking system and the painting and finishing of a number of rooms.

Accepting the alternate bids, he went on, would mean a difference of $53,636. Increased wages for labor account for an increase of $62,646 over the original estimate for this item, he said, while the increase in the cost of material is $92,000 over the original estimate.

The low bid for the general contract was $616,000 while the original estimate was $542,620, he said. The estimate for the plumbing was $38,000 while the low bid was $35,330. The low bid on the heating and ventilating was $90,865 while the estimate was $65,000. An increase of about $19,000 also was noted in the bid for the electrical wiring which was $34,234 as compared to the estimated amount of $15,000.

COUNCIL TO MEET

Scores of Plants Closed as Result Of Labor Disputes boost from Benjamin F. Fairless, head of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation.

Vice President John P. Frey of the A. F. of L., agreed to discuss the case of the independent labor group, which asked for help in its fight against the domination of the C. I. O.

The United Automobile Workers of America, balked in its effort to gain recognition as sole bargaining agency for 61,000 Chrysler corporation employees, called sit-down strikes that closed nine Chrysler plants in Detroit.

In addition to some 55,000 Chrysler workers in Detroit, 4,000 at the company's New Castle, Ind., plant were made idle. The plant closed for lack of supplies from Detroit units. The Briggs Mfg. Co., which supplies Chrysler with bodies, curtailed operations at Detroit, throwing 4,500 out of work.

Hudson Motor Strike

U. A. W. A. strikes at the Hudson Motor Car company's three manufacturing plants at Detroit plunged 10,000 workers into idleness. Union leaders accused the company of "stalling" negotiations on wage adjustments. Production at the Ecorse, Mich., and Rubber Co. at Akron, Ohio, closely associated with the automotive industry, was at a standstill for the fifth day, keeping 10,000 idle in a dispute over exclusive union bargaining.

Sit-down strikes that tied up seven Fisher Body and Chevrolet plants at Flint, Mich., were ended by a truce between the U. A. W. A. and General Motors Corp. The dispute over wages and personnel involved 13,500 workers. The truce agreement provided for conferences.

Sixty-five strikers in the body engineering department of Packard Motor company resumed work after a short sit-down which they said was only a demonstration.

The rival chieftains of the nation's foremost labor organizations—the American Federation of Labor, and the committee for industrial organization—mapped plans at Washington for extensive unionization drives.

Challenges C. I. O.

President William Green of the A. F. of L. challenged the C. I. O.'s claims to representation of "big steel" workers by calling a campaign for enrollment of 500,000 structural steel workers under the federation banner.

John L. Lewis, C. I. O. leader, met with chieftains of 15 unions to plan a similar campaign and to extend their unionization drive to the textile industry's 1,250,000 workers and the thousands employed in the oil industry.

The start of a C. I. O. drive to unionize iron mine and dock workers in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan was announced at Chicago by Nicholas Pontecchino, of the steel workers organizing committee.

Philip Murray, head of the steel workers' organizing committee, predicted the C. I. O. union would win contracts from all United States and costs.

Urge Support of 2 Proposed Bills

Favor Passage of Law to Increase City's Share of Car License Fees

Aldermen Vogt and DeLand, members of the common council legislative committee, last night urged the council and townspeople to write their assemblymen and senators urging passage of two bills relating to increased return of revenue from car registrations to cities, and the other to old age pensions and other state aid.

The bill relating to increased return of revenue from car registrations, No. 187A, is designed to turn back to cities for road purposes part of the registration fees on the basis of the number of cars in each city, Alderman Vogt explained. This would increase the city's share about $18,000 or $20,000 a year. The bill does not increase fees but does return a larger part of them to cities, he said.

Alderman DeLand said the bill relating to old age pensions, No. 185A, also would return a designated amount to cities. The money would be raised through a tax on numerous items, he said, but would not be put in the state general fund.

Appleton Women Organize for Local Activities In Cancer Control Fight

MOBILIZATION of the local unit of the women's field army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer was begun at an organization meeting of 50 women representing over 35 women's organizations of Appleton Monday afternoon at Appleton Women's club. Mrs. Joan Neller, who with Mrs. Charles Reineck is in charge of the drive in Appleton, presided at the meeting, and Mrs. R. J. White, vice commander of the sixth medical district comprising Door, Kewaunee, Brown, Outagamie, Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties, spoke on the aims and objects of the movement.

William Strassberger, secretary-treasurer of the First Trust company, was named treasurer of the organization and Mrs. A. F. Zuehlke, chairman of the health department of Appleton Women's club, was chosen secretary. An advisory board was selected to include the following persons: the Very Rev. Cyprian Abler, O. M. Cap, pastor of St. Joseph's church; President Thomas N. Barrows of Lawrence college; Mrs. Homer M. Benton, E. N. Belanger, A. O. Benz, Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church; the Rev. John B. Hanna, pastor of First Congregational church; Mrs. F. J. Harwood, Mrs. Joseph Koffend, Jr., Mrs. W. H. Killen, Mrs. L. J. Marshall, Mrs. William Nemecheck, A. H. Wicksberg, Mrs. James B. Wagg and J. R. Whitman.

Discusses Cancer
The first volley in the campaign was fired at the meeting yesterday by Dr. E. F. Mielke who discussed cancer and the necessity for a cancer control campaign. He pointed out that out of 12,000 cases of cancer in Wisconsin this year, 4,000 must die, that cancer ranks second in the cause of deaths, heart disease taking first place.

Practically every cancer is curable if it is taken in time, said Dr. Mielke, added that the Society for the Control of Cancer is working to eliminate the "if" and trying to help people to recognize cancer in time so that it may be cured. Out of eight women who have reached the age of thirty-five, one will have cancer, he stated, and one out of every ten will die of it.

How Develops
Cancer develops when any group of microscopic cells, which go to make up the living body, instead of living and dying normally, for some reason go wild, said the speaker. Like fire it spreads through the body, if not checked, from one organ to another, destroying and sending out a poison. He went on, fifty years ago no one was ever cured of cancer of the rectum or colon. Dr. Mielke continued, but now 25 per cent are absolutely cured. Surgery, x-ray and radium are the three means used in checking and curing cancer, he said, depending on the accessibility and advancement of the case.

Dr. Mielke urged people to be on the lookout for cuts or sores that do not heal, particularly on the face or mouth; also any lump on any part of the body, especially if it begins to grow or change; any discharge or bleeding from any part of the body.

"Delay is always dangerous," he warned.

No Accurate Test
Doctors are not always able to recognize cancer, the speaker explained, mostly because accurate tests have not been found, but they hope soon to discover a way to test the blood for cancer so that they will know without a doubt when it is present.

Local organizations which have signified their intention of cooperating in the drive against cancer include the following: Women's organizations of First Congregational, First Methodist Episcopal, Memorial Presbyterian, All Saints Episcopal, First Baptist, Trinity Episcopal, Lutheran, Mt. Olive Lutheran and Zion Lutheran churches; Women's Catholic Order of Foresters; Christian Mothers societies of St. Mary and St. Joseph's churches; Moses Monfort Ladies Aid; Temple Zion Sisters; American Legion Auxiliary; Nurses association; Appleton Teachers association; George D. Eggleston Relief corps; Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic; Women of the Moose; Pythian Sisters; Deborah Rockah Lodge; Lady Elks; Appleton Business and Professional Women's club; American Association of University Women; Appleton Women's club; Auxiliary to Outagamie County Medical society; Daughters of the American Revolution; Service circle of the Kings Daughters; Federated Chapter Order of Eastern Star; P. E. O. Sisterhood; United Commercial Travelers auxiliary; Delphian club; Bar of Pease auxiliary; Veterans of Foreign Wars; Royal Neighbors; Ladies Auxiliary; Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles; Parent Teachers association; Charles O. Baer auxiliary to United Spanish War Veterans.

Appleton women cooperating in the movement which is a nationwide effort will conduct a drive during Holy Week to place literature on cancer and its control in every home, and to accept memberships of those who wish to join the organization.

Students Score Success In Senior High Class Play

BY NELLIE CHAMBERLAIN

A large cast, admirably trained, full of the gaiety and fire of youth and extremely pleasant to look at scored a decided success in the Appleton High school senior class play, "The Novel Princess," last night at Lawrence Memorial chapel. Effective and charming settings, colorful costumes and fine acting made the production outstanding, and the addition of the folk-dancing and music added much to the general effect of story-book romance with an old-world flavor. Miss Ruth McKenna, dramatics coach at Appleton High, directed the production.

Representing a mythical kingdom of the George Barr McCutcheon type, the sets were suggestive rather than realistic and not only contributed to the atmosphere of the play but in addition were extremely decorative. Three different changes of scene were required, but the suggestive settings not only simplified the problem of scenery construction but made it possible to effect the changes with a minimum loss of time between acts.

Settings Are Effective
The rose green and gold boudoir of Princess Sonia in the first act was every girl's dream of what a bedroom should look like and seldom does, and the other two sets were equally effective, the one an exterior with a low stone fence and quaint tavern, and the other representing the palace chapel with its stained glass window and massive furniture.

Unquestionably the outstanding performance of the show was given by Betty Bosser who took the part of Princess Sonia, but Lois Russier as Terese, her lady-in-waiting, ran a close second for acting honors. The latter showed an ease and poise which is unusual in people of high school age and she never stepped out of character even when she relinquished the spotlight to another member of the cast. Miss Bosser performed like a veteran, her work giving testimony of her experience before the footlights, and she showed her versatility by giving a peasant dance.

One of the most spontaneous bursts of applause during the evening followed the vocal solo by Doris Ryan, a tiny blonde with a sweet, clear voice and an easy and charming manner on the stage. Miss Ryan played the part of a peasant girl and took part in the folk dance before the tavern.

Others In Cast
A stately, wise-cracking American book salesman was portrayed by John Rosenbloom who contributed not a little of the action of the play by his fire under beds, down walls and in other strange places in his attempt to seduce the princess and elude her pursuers. Jo Ann Kordak provided the romantic interest for the young American and won the sympathy of the audience by her portrayal of a genuine, unaffected girl who did not share her mother's desire for a title. Another fine performance was turned in by Paul Grignon who not only looked but acted the part of the inn keeper convincingly.

The pompous, dull lord chancellor was portrayed by Walter Wriston, and Vincent Dutcher, as the long looked impressive in his white and gold uniform and his white beard.

Whenever she appeared on the stage, Marion Kramhold in the role of Mrs. Martin, the title-hungry American mother, became the center of all eyes for she gave one of the best performances of the evening as an ill-mannered, newly-rich social climber, contemptuous of her inferiors and patronizing of the nobility. Both her voice and manner contributed to the desired effect.

Walter Schmidt was good as her subdued, camera-shy husband who eventually rises to assist him, and greatly surprises his wife. The sinister bearded secretary to the prince was well played by Daniel O'Neil, and Thomas Milhaupt took the part of the handsome prince with whom Sonia fell in love in the guise of an American tourist.

And The Queen?
The bouncing, excitable maid was portrayed by Jeanette Radtke, and Elizabeth Catlin's performance of the dictating and managing queen was fine. Thomas Marling was good as the captain of the guard who usually vented his wrath on the eunuchs, played by John Langenberg. Others in the cast were Robert Langlois as the footman, William Felton as Petro, Elwood Krueger as Jacques and Alyce Grace Boelter as Maria.

Peasants who appeared in the second act included Betty Stulp, Jean Voigt, Doris Ryan, Alyce Grace Boelter, Ruth Lange, Jeanette Schuh, June Newman, Bud Gmeiner, Sydney Blinder, Francis Faragan, Karl Kolb, Elwood Krueger, William Felton and Ben Lewis. Jane Frank, Lorraine Junke and Ken Downey were the musicians. Preceding the performance and between acts music was provided by Appleton High school orchestra under the direction of Jay Williams.

New Impression of O'Neill Given in "Ah, Wilderness"

EUGENE O'NEILL, considered America's greatest living dramatist, has written one of the modern stage's greatest comedies in "Ah, Wilderness," which will be produced by the Lawrence college theater at Memorial chapel Thursday and Friday nights, March 18 and 19.

Those who connect O'Neill with such dark drama as "Anna Christie," "The Hairy Ape," and "Strange Interlude" must see "Ah, Wilderness" to get a totally new impression of an American dramatist who has been considered as revolutionary in his day as Shaw was a generation ago in England.

In "Ah, Wilderness" O'Neill harks back to less preceding days—the times about which our elders glow, and to which they refer as "the good old days." Seen in retrospect they seem richer than our own day in understanding, more mellow and tolerant in human sympathy, and generous in sharing their laughter.

The characters of "Ah, Wilderness" share honors, however, more than would seem apparent at a glance. Essie, Nat's wife, is of almost equal interest, and Richard, the oldest son, could well be considered as important as Nat. Sid, Essie's brother, and Lily, Nat's sister, also hold the spotlight from time to time.

Worry of Parents
Richard is an American boy, as real as any boy in any age. He gets into trouble and gets out with the greatest of ease, with far less damage to his nervous system, for, like most American parents, Nat and Essie worry too much about him.

That is O'Neill's secret recipe for humor in this play, which is being produced by the Lawrence college theater Thursday and Friday nights next week. He takes a leaf from our own books and holds it up for us to see, ink-splatters, tear-splatters, horrendous blunders and all.

Plans for their annual spring party will be discussed at a meeting of the Town Girls' association of Lawrence college tonight at Hamar house. The business session will be preceded by a supper at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. H. K. Pratt and Mrs. A. A. Krabbe won prizes at bridge when Sigma Alpha Iota alumnae met last night at the home of Mrs. A. S. MacArthur, Neenah, for a dinner and bridge. Mrs. Pratt, 122 N. Lawrence street, will entertain the group April 12.

Town and Gown club will meet at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. C. Cast, 925 E. Franklin street. Mrs. William Crow will speak on "The Risorgimento."

Mrs. Otto Zuehlke, E. College avenue, entertained the Monday Evening club last evening at her home, the prize going to Mrs. Harry Cygl. Next Monday Mrs. Alma Noyes, W. Prospect avenue, will be hostess.

Opinions in England Were Varied During Crisis Over Abdication of King Edward

OPINIONS in England varied widely during the abdication crisis. Dr. Milton C. Towner, who was then in that country, told the Appleton Women's club Monday afternoon. That "they'd have Edward and get the old buzzard out of the way eventually" seemed to be the consensus of English workmen, as expressed by one of them to Dr. Towner, while students, admitting the king had social vision, said he was very much a playboy and probably in reality unfitted to be a king. Dr. "old buzzard," the workmen meant Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, Dr. Towner explained.

Dr. Towner is assistant to the president and director of admissions at Lawrence college, and his travels in England, Scotland and Wales this winter were primarily to study the tutorial systems in the various colleges and universities. That he was in London at the time of the abdication was therefore merely a coincidence, but a fortunate one his listeners decided, for he was able to give first-hand information of how the city took the announcement.

Cites Incident
An amusing incident related by him took place in a London theater the day Edward announced his abdication. At the close of the play the orchestra, as usual, struck up "God Save the King," and there was some tittering in the audience. But they managed to get through the song. It was not until the curtain began to rise that the picture of the king as also customary, that the play-goers broke into outright laughter, for the curtain was raised only a short way and then dropped again before any picture could be shown, the theater management apparently realizing that England at that moment actually had no king. Although Edward had abdicated, George was not officially given the throne until the following afternoon, Dr. Towner explained.

Edward's announcement that he intended to marry Wallis Simpson was like a God-send to Baldwin, Dr. Towner pointed out, for the prime minister had been much upset by the king's independent action since he ascended the throne. Then began for instance, the trip to South Wales, when Edward went ahead of the special tour that had been planned for him and visited mines where he was not expected and told Baldwin, "Something has got to be done about this." There was also the matter of sending out invitations for the coronation ceremony. Instead of letting the government and a proper secretary do it, as heretofore, Edward himself sent out the invitations and invited, among others, the heads of churches other than the Church of England. Since the coronation is really a Church of England enterprise, the king's action was a bad break of tradition.

A Poor King
The result was, Dr. Towner explained, that the king was very poor king for a democracy. He might be a good king for a monarchy, however, as some of the students pointed out when he asked their opinions. The Scotch, he said, were inclined to adopt an "I told you so" attitude in regard to the Ed and Wallis affair. One could sense they felt a mistake had been made in the royal family some time back, and that if there had been more Scotch blood in it, there would have been less weakness.

Dr. Towner's manner of traveling was somewhat unique, for he made no arrangements beyond passage on a boat, and he went alone. Arrived in England, he went first to a young man who had toured the United States about two years ago and who had then returned to England to speak on the queer customs of the Americans. Dr. Towner told him that he wanted to do for his people what he had done for ours and asked him to list for him those places in which he could best study the English as they are. The young man sent a flock of telegrams to graduate students and teachers in England, Scotland and Wales, so that the American visitor was greeted at the station in almost every town he visited and royally entertained at the students' quarters, or "digs," as they call them.

Happy Impression
His visit to Cambridge, he said, left a happier impression than that to Oxford, although he declared he found it hard to say exactly what made it so. The dons and tutors at Oxford take themselves very seriously and speak in a profound manner, as if to make one feel that he is faced with the oracles, he said. At Cambridge he sensed a spirit of freedom and was intrigued with the liveliness and vivacity of the place.

On the subject of the churches, Dr. Towner declared that the cleavage between the church and state was growing. He sees either a complete separation with a gradual breakdown of the influence of the Anglican church, or a strong reform movement within the church.

fostered chiefly by the churchmen from the midlands and up country. The small churches are crowded, the cathedrals are not. One Sunday at St. Paul's he counted 174 persons. The cathedral holds about 3,000.

Discusses Plays
Dr. Towner also discussed the two plays which impressed him most while he traveled in England. One was "Waste," a story of social and political life in England, particularly London, in 1906. The play was written at that time, but censorship prevented its being produced until now. Although it is 30 years old, one felt that it was dealing with a situation that was current, he said.

The other play was "Murder in the Cathedral" by T. S. Eliot. He praised it for both its content and the manner of playing. It was notable for a chorus of nine women, he said, who spoke in unison in poetic meter. He had never seen a play, he declared, in which all the machinery of speech was used with such remarkable effect.

FEWER COLDS—SHORTER COLDS

For Thousands Who Followed this Guide to Better Control of Colds

- 1. To Help PREVENT Many Colds
At the first warning sneeze or sniffle or the slightest irritation in the nose—quick!—put a few drops of Vicks VapoRub on each nostril. This specialized medication is expressly designed for the nose and upper throat, where most colds start. Used in time, VapoRub helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head colds in their early stages.
- 2. To Help END a Cold Sooner
Of course, some colds strike without warning, or get by even the best precautions. Then you need your dependable Vicks VapoRub. Go straight to bed and massage it briskly on the throat, chest, and back for 3 full minutes. Then spread a thick layer of VapoRub over the chest and cover with a warm cloth. Long after you relax into restful sleep, VapoRub's famous poultice-and-vapor action continues hour after hour—loosening phlegm, easing your cough, relieving irritation, helping to break up local congestion.

Sickness from Colds Cut In Half!
The two simple steps outlined above, together with a few sensible health rules, are the basis of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. In the biggest colds-clinic ever held—with 17,353 people as subjects—Vicks Plan resulted in fewer colds and shorter colds. It cut sickness from colds more than half!

Winning Bridge Demands Definite Bidding Laws

TAKE YOUR CHOICE:
(Copyright, 1937, By Ely Culbertson)

The hand shown below has been causing considerable excitement in New York bridge circles, attaining the status of a "How old is Ann" puzzle. Robert Neville, in his excellent bridge column in a New York newspaper, used the hand as an example of shrewd defensive play. Personally, I feel that the point involved is to obscure to be demonstrably correct, except in a double-dummy problem, and therefore I recommend that it be treated merely as a bridge curiosity.

If first was brought to my attention by an expert who posed me this question: "Which would you rather be the declarer in the South position at a three no trump contract, or a defender against that contract?" I will give you five minutes and bet you $5 that you can't choose correctly."

Naturally I took the wager, but I will admit that I used almost every second of the allotted time before the light burst on me.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

short of game, or can the opponents make him bid game?

Answer: This question, which is put to me several times daily, arises over a confusion of the principles of the Culbertson system with the laws of contract bridge. Winning tactics demand that certain bids must not be dropped until game (or an equivalent penalty) is reached. But this is merely a principle of good bidding. It is not an official law. Therefore if players are interested only in keeping within the law, they can drop any bid they wish to, but if they want to win they will respect this and other sound conventions.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

West opens the seven of spades, and now imagine that you have a hand which you could choose the position of advantage, namely, declarer or defender. Which would you choose? Cover up what I am about to say before you make your decision.

If you decided that three no trump could not be defeated, you would lose. It can be, but only by a remarkable and I am afraid, double-dummy defense.

The spade queen goes up on the first trick, and South must let this hold, otherwise East, when he gets on lead with the heart ace, will lead a spade through to West's established suit. Declarer therefore plays the three of spades. Now East continues with the five, and West wins with the ace and returns the ten of spades. At this point East, with clairvoyant shrewdness, discards his ace of hearts! And there you have it!

Declarer never can make three no trump without setting up his fourth heart, and when he attempts to do so West takes the lead with the heart jack and riddles off his spade tricks. If East fails to discard his heart ace, declarer can, of course, set up three heart tricks without giving West the dangerous hand, the lead.

The thing for you to do, dear reader, is to get hold of some unsuspecting victim who has not read this column, and offer him a wager that he can't choose the right horse!

Blight often destroys aster plants. To prevent this, cover the ground in which they are to be transplanted with a powder made of equal parts of sulphur, arsenate of lead and powdered lime.

When cooking a steak smothered in onions, squeeze the juice of a lemon over it before serving and you will find the flavor greatly improved.

Iodine stains on linen if soaked in a weak solution of carbolic acid (poison) and water or in diluted ammonia water, then washed with tepid water and no soap will be quickly removed.

Today's Question

Question: Playing the Culbertson system, a bidder opens with a two bid. Opponents show strength. Partner shows weakness. (Such as South, two diamonds; West, two hearts; North, pass; East, two spades; South, three clubs; West, pass; North, three diamonds; East, pass.) Can opening bidder now pass, or must he bid game?

Answer: This question, which is put to me several times daily, arises over a confusion of the principles of the Culbertson system with the laws of contract bridge. Winning tactics demand that certain bids must not be dropped until game (or an equivalent penalty) is reached. But this is merely a principle of good bidding. It is not an official law. Therefore if players are interested only in keeping within the law, they can drop any bid they wish to, but if they want to win they will respect this and other sound conventions.

30 feet, from the top of one tall tree to a lower limb of another. Despite the force of their leaps, they are able to clutch the limbs they aim for.

Some of the natives of India regarded these monkeys as holy. No believer in the old religious lore will kill one of them. For this reason the "holy apes" become tame. They help themselves to growing vegetables, and are a nuisance in general.

Now and then a band of "holy apes" will pay a visit to a town and take some exercises on the roofs of buildings. When they grow hungry, they visit the shops. The shopkeepers do not dare to kill them so a good time is enjoyed by all. These monkeys are "vegetarians." They do not eat insects, birds or any kind of meat, but they make short work of grain and fruit.

The "holy monkey" is another interesting animal. He does not have real horns, but there are little tufts of hair on top of his head which give him the name.

Teach Dawdling Child He Must Always be on Time

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Prissy, have you got your stockings on yet? Well, hurry. It is time you were ready for breakfast. You will be late if you don't hurry."

"I am hurrying!"

A minutes pass and no signs of Prissy. "Are you washed yet, Prissy?"

"No, I can't get my garter hooked."

"What? You mean to say you are still putting on your stockings? Give me a hand to be late for school today again. Here, put up your foot. Give me those things. Now get a leg to the bathroom. Hold still. I can't wash your face with you turning your back. I do think that a girl eight years old ought to be able to get ready for school on time. Every day you are late. Hurry along to the table."

"I am hurrying."

"It is not like that. You are not hurrying. You never do hurry. I have a time with you day after day. You are going to be late as sure as the world. Swallow that toast and be on your way."

"I am hurrying."

"O dear, it is almost time for the over. I am ashamed before the teacher to have you late again. Get your coat and HURRY."

"I am hurrying. I can't go any faster."

What is to be done with a perfect healthy child who does not want to get ready on time? Nobody can say what ought to be done because there is a reason for this dawdling, and that reason differs with the children in question. One must search for the reason the child has for delaying. First is he really late? Then comes first because any feeling of illness will make the doing of any task a hardship. Have the doctor see the dawdling child regularly to be sure there is no physical defect at the bottom of the dawdling.

Letting the dawdling be late for school, really serves him. He wants to be late. There is some reason why lateness is comforting to him. Take him to school on time, drive him, help him pass him along and get him there until he learns by experience that getting to school is an inevitable

At the same time, whenever it is possible to let him take the consequences of his behavior and be inconvenienced by it, do so. It is only when his slowness costs him something he really wants that he will be roused to see the evil of his habit. As long as it costs him nothing he will continue it.

There are some experiences too costly for practical advantage. We

Massage Prevents Baldness

BY ELSIE PIERCE

ONE of the leading scalp specialists of this country explains that while dandruff is admittedly Public Enemy No. 1 of scalp and hair health, poor circulation also contributes in some degree to between fifty five to sixty per cent of all baldness and hair loss.

The top of the scalp, the baldness area is as dependent on a normal blood supply for its nourishment as any other part of the body, but it is the only part that doesn't obtain the muscular exercise to stimulate the blood flow.

Why don't we see cases of baldness in youngsters in their teens. Because their scalp muscles and tissues are limber and supple and the blood circulates freely. It is when one grows older and the muscles become hardened and tense.

Why do men seldom lose the hair on the back of the neck and sides of the head? Because these areas are adjacent to and over major blood streams.

Tight and heavy hat bands may restrict the circulation. Or the general blood condition may be low, contributing to hair loss. But massage and brushing are definitely recommended to supply the needed scalp exercise.

Right Way to Massage

There is a right and wrong way to massage, however. Here is the right way as described by this scalp specialist.

"Lie over, placing the elbows on knees or low table, then place the fingertips firmly on the scalp and rotate without allowing the fingers to slip. Repeat over all part of the scalp. Use an upward movement at back and sides to force the blood to the top. Don't rub scalp or hair. Rubbing breaks the hair or pulls it out. Holding the head and upper part of the body low when massaging makes it easier for the blood pressure to penetrate to the top of the scalp."

Quadrupeds carrying their heads low never get bald, although their scalps are often more tightly drawn than humans. That's where standing on your head comes in. Not as silly as it sounds, it allows the blood to flush down into the scalp.

However, since not many of us indulge in the practice of standing on our heads, let us at least massage and brush. Remember that baldness is more prevalent with men than women, but massage will not only counteract hair loss but dandruff and dryness and similar scalp ills.

Fiddler Will Get His Pay No Matter How You Play

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—Six months ago I married a man fifteen years my senior. I had known too many loves in the past to be particularly thrilled, but I was tired of knocking around and he has a very good position. After our marriage I told him frankly of my past and that his extra-marital adventures would not bother me, demanding in return the same privileges for myself. He agreed to this readily, because it is well known he is much in love with a girl he cannot get. Now to my dismay, I find that he has discussed my past and our marriage agreement with his friends and they show me unmistakably that they consider me beneath them and some of the men are silly familiar. All my absences, my mail, my telephone calls are watched and reported to him when he is away. Instead of working for happiness my frankness is only causing misery. Do you think his age makes it impossible for him ever to change?

TRUTHFUL AND SORRY

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: I don't think a man's age has much to do with his attitude toward his wife's conduct. Young or old he wants her to have clean skirts and for him to be able to trust her. And this goes no matter what his own record might be. Your experience proves anew how difficult it is for the woman are Sunday evening suppers but one is simple while the other has a very bountiful menu.

Dear Mrs. Post: It is proper to stack the cups, one cup in the other, at a tea table?

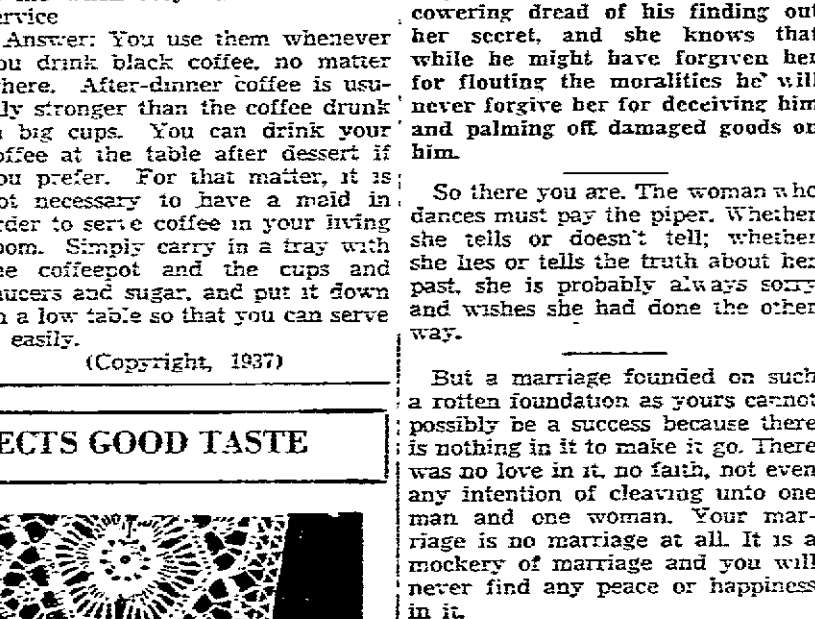

Answer: When you are expecting a great many people you can stack as many as three cups on every three saucers.

Dear Mrs. Post: Are the small after-dinner coffee cups to be used only for the formal custom of serving coffee after dinner in the living room? Will you explain just when this size cup may be used, and whether it may be used at the dining table? If not, I don't understand why friends gave them to me when they know I have no service.

Answer: You use them whenever you drink black coffee, no matter where. After-dinner coffee is usually stronger than the coffee drunk in big cups. You can drink your coffee at the table after dessert if you prefer. For that matter, it is not necessary to have a maid in order to serve coffee in your living room. Simply carry in a tray with saucers and sugar, and put it down on a low table so that you can serve it easily.

boy the money. Believe me, Miss Dix, I am not thinking of the money, but of the dishonest principle of borrowing and never paying back that is being instilled in his boy's character. What do you think?

GRANDMA.

Answer:

I think that you are exactly right and that there is nothing more important than that children should be taught from their earliest infancy to take a responsible attitude toward money and to be punctilious in paying their debts. It should be impressed upon every child that to borrow and not to repay is just as dishonest as stealing. It is even more despicable because it is betraying the trust of some one who likes us.

If this were done, we should all be saved from the petty grafting friends and relatives who are always touching us for small sums or asking us to pay for something they buy when we go shopping, or to settle their part of the bill at a Dutch-treat affair, or buy their tickets for the theater and who promptly and conveniently forget ever to settle with us.

Certainly the parents who allow a boy to grow up believing that he can earn money without repaying it are party to the crime when he becomes an absconding cashier in later life, or is sent to jail for stealing from his employer. He has never been taught to be honest about money.

No part of a child's education is more important than teaching it to handle money. From the time a child is 5 years old it should be given a regular allowance that should cover all of its little personal expenses and it should be made to live within this allowance. If it spends it foolishly, it should be made to do without the things it wants the remainder of the week. There should be no begging for nickels and no borrowing. But if it does borrow the parents should see that the debt is repaid to the last penny.

When you have taught a child to take care of money, to do without until it has the money to pay for it, to spend wisely and well and to pay its debts, you have laid the foundations of an upright character on which an edifice of success and prosperity are sure to be built.

Mrs. Sullivan Urges Use Of Licensed Boarding Homes in Care of Orphans

Kaukauna—The use of licensed boarding houses as "foster homes" for neglected and dependent children instead of orphanages was recommended by Mrs. Katherine Sullivan of Kaukauna, a member of the state board of control, before 50 business and professional women last night at a banquet at Hotel Kaukauna.

Speaking on the child welfare work being carried on by the state and counties, she pointed to the system of specially authorized boarding homes introduced by the Children's Code of 1913 as a solution to the problem of crowded orphanages and an improvement over their conditions.

"It is amazing how many fine women have turned their homes into places for the state's helpless children to live," she said. "I wish this system would spread so that every I could come to you and tell you that the number of children in the institution at Sparta has been cut in half."

Orphanage Crowded
The orphanage or state school at Sparta is congested, Mrs. Sullivan said. There are 541 children living in quarters designed for a maximum number of 390.

"Business is considered good at orphanages when the number of children is decreasing," she declared, "or when new ones are appearing very slowly. Even in the best institutions something happens to a child that shouldn't."

The solution of this problem is the boarding home where a couple may take up to six children providing they comply with standards set by the child welfare agencies."

She criticized Outagamie county as "not doing its duty by its neglected children" said that one or two "well-qualified social workers" should be hired to deal with such cases and bring them to the notice of juvenile courts, and pointed to Winnebago and Sheboygan counties as progressive in this respect.

Honor Guest
She was the principal speaker at the banquet at which business and professional girls of this city were entertained by the Business and Professional Women's club. An honored guest at the dinner was Miss Mathild Dunning of Neenah, state chairman of the program committee for the Business and Professional Women's organization.

"Sending young people to institutions is expensive," Mrs. Sullivan said. "That is why you have child welfare work—to try to lessen the danger of that happening by doing your work right in the communities where the children are growing. If all parents were wise and all home influences good, we wouldn't have any problems, but that isn't so and we have to face it."

The Kaukauna woman, who has been in Red Cross and social work for 15 years, termed truancy a "serious matter" and said that keeping children in school was one of the biggest aims of the state child welfare department established in 1921.

Department Unpopular
"By 1927 the state Department had grown unpopular," the speaker said, "but that was a good sign that things were being done. There was a bill up in the state legislature that year to destroy it, but after a

Rohan Enters Race For Justice Office

Barney Mitchea, Lincoln street, former city treasurer, last week announced his candidacy for the justice position which will be left open this spring at the retirement of Nick D. Schvin because of illness.

Abe Goldin, south side justice, has started the circulation of nominating petitions and as yet has no opposition for reelection. Under the state law, a candidate must obtain the signatures of no less than 3 or more than 5 per cent of votes cast for governor in the last general election in order to have his name on the ballot.

Sees Connection
She described orphanages as the "path of least resistance" and declared: "I don't think we should build any more buildings at Sparta because just as fast as we would enlarge the place, so would the number of children grow. After studying the men in our prison, I have come to the conclusion that there is a direct relation between broken homes and later delinquency and that the boarding home is a far better place than the large orphanage."

Preceding her talk was a program of music and dancing. The numbers and participants follow: (1) Two songs, high school boys' glee club under direction of Miss Lucille Austin; (2) Solo by Lucille Hopfensberger; (3) Solo by Robert Cooper; (4) "Yeah Man" dance by Gloria Geske and Bernice Kappell; (5) Military dance by Mary Lou Haas; (6) Tumbling act by Anna Mae and Lillian Nyger; (6) "Swing Time" dance by Peggy Eimmerman.

Menasha Cagers Meet Kaws in 1st Tournament Game

Calderman in Bid for Class B District Championship Wednesday

Menasha—Menasha Bluejays will make their first bid for 1937 class B district cage championship when they meet Kaukauna High school at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the first game of the first round of the district basketball tournament at Kaukauna.

In previous games, the Calderman have secured victories over the Kaukauna team. The two teams met at Menasha, the Kaws played a ragged first half while Menasha piled up a lead which could not be overcome and the game ended 39 and 27 for the Menashians. In their Kaukauna meeting, Menasha finished at the long end of a 33 and 21 count and definitely established their supremacy.

However, since that time in conference play, the Calderman have lost into slumps and the decision Wednesday night depends on which team has the ability to pull out of the doldrums and play basketball.

Coach N. A. Calderman is pointing his charges for the Kaukauna game as a win Wednesday night will mean a comparatively easy ball game in the second round when Menasha, if a winner, will tangle with the winner of the Clintonville-East De Pere fracas.

In the event of a victory in the second round, the Calderman will go on to meet the winner of the Neenah-New London game which will be played Thursday night. The local team has established win precedents over all the teams which they will have to meet up to that point and will only run into difficulty, according to dopesters, when they encounter West De Pere in the finals—if the Phantoms and Menasha get to the finals.

At 9 o'clock Thursday morning the Rev. Mr. Zielow will be guest speaker at the chapel service of the "Evangelical Theological Seminary."

Three Enter Race for Justice of Peace

Neenah—A contest for offices of justices of the peace in the general election, April 6, has become apparent with the release of nomination papers by Harry S. Zern, Jack C. Clark, to Christensen, incumbent, and Gaylord Lockman, Neenah attorney. L. O. Coyne is seeking reelection to the office.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone numbers are 200 and 1992. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. These numbers also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Plan Early Season Activity at Ridgeway Golf Club Course

Neenah—Weather permitting, an early "get away" is planned for members of Ridgeway Golf club this spring. The club house and grounds will be open to players as soon after April 15 as the conditions warrant, according to a decision made by the board of directors.

Little or no work is required to condition the fairways and greens this year and normal dry weather conditions with plenty of sunshine is all that will be needed to put the course in good shape, officials said. R. J. Tuchscherer was elected club president, Norton J. Williams was chosen vice president and E. A. Grizzen was named secretary for the ensuing year. Dio W. Dunham will be publicity director.

Editor Explains Transmission of Wire Photographs

Tells of News Picture Development at Lions Club Meet

Menasha—H. K. Derus, city editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent, explained the transmission of wire-photos to members of the Menasha Lions club at their luncheon meeting Monday noon at the Memorial building.

The editor told of the development of news pictures saying that the idea of the tabloid originated in London and was brought to America by a Chicago newspaper man who went to England to study methods used there. He said the tabloid has been responsible for the increased use of pictures by all newspapers.

The wire-photo, Mr. Derus said, is a direct development of the growing public demand for news pictures. He stated that pictures taken in New York could be sent over the wire and be published in newspapers in California in half an hour.

Name Committee A reception committee headed by Roman Fahrback was appointed by A. J. Armstrong, acting president of the Lions in the absence of Urban Remmel, to greet bowlers who come to city officials' teams in the Wisconsin State Lions Bowling tournament, which is being sponsored by the Menasha club. Members of the committee are Al Landig, Lawrence Kraft, Harold Berro and William Hahn.

The tournament will start at 7 o'clock Saturday night with several booster and city officials' teams from Neenah and Menasha rolling the opening games. Competition will officially start at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Programs listing names of teams and the schedule will be available Friday afternoon.

Lion Harold Berro read a letter from Appleton, Neenah and Menasha which invited Menasha members to compete in their inter-club olympics which will be conducted at the Appleton Y. M. C. A. Monday, March 22. Competition will open at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and continue throughout the evening.

Reasons for absence from meetings were limited to sickness or out-of-town trips by the board of directors, it was announced at the meeting. No other reason will be considered.

NEENAH WRESTLERS ARE UNDEFEATED THIS SEASON

Undeclared in matches during the 1936-37 season and defeated only once in three years of competition, the Neenah High school wrestling squad is hanging up an enviable record. Municipal Judge Is Speaker Before Club

Neenah—Judge Henry P. Hughes explained court procedure at a meeting of the Monday Noon Lunch club in the Neenah club yesterday. Judge Hughes, who is municipal court judge at Oshkosh, stressed the point that a person should acquaint himself with the maximum penalty before pleading guilty to a charge. He said many persons, who feel there is reasonable doubt of guilt, plead guilty in order to expedite the affair and find themselves in unlooked for trouble after the case is closed.

Report Increase in Patients at Hospital

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau) Madison—Daily average population of the Winnebago state hospital during the past month was 785, the state board of control reports. The average represented an increase of 27 patients over the previous month, and 23 patients over the average for the last year. The hospital reported eight new admissions during the month, and no discharges, according to the board's statement, which also reported that 8,387 persons are confined in state penal and charitable institutions at the present time.

Neenah Society

Neenah—Neenah's American Legion auxiliary voted Monday night to extend an invitation to Miss Hazel Ruby, county chairman, to have the spring meeting of the county council in Neenah. Arrangements were also made at the business meeting of the auxiliary at the 125 men for a set period of time.

Other provisions of the original resolution followed action of the county board in November offering tax delinquent certificates of the company at less than their face value. These amounted to approximately $87,000.

It has been generally understood that if the city of Oshkosh purchased the parcels of land from the company for $57,500, the Paine company would bid in their tax delinquent certificates with the money. Also, Oshkosh business men were expected to raise approximately $100,000 to aid in financing operations of the plant.

However, in a legal opinion rendered late Monday, City Attorney Harry E. Meyer stated that the city might only consider buying the land from the company at a fair price, with "no strings attached." He stated if any proposition were made the company, or an agreement entered into between the city and the lumber company involving specified employment or other consideration, the contract would be "against public policy" and would amount to the city aiding a private concern.

For this reason the original resolution was amended, Monday night, to become merely a contract to buy property from the Paine Co.

It is now up to the Winnebago county board, which meets Tuesday, to accept or reject any offer made for the Paine Lbr. Co. tax delinquent certificates. City officials said Monday night that rejection of an offer for the certificates at less than face value, would be paramount to rejection of the entire plan to re-open the Paine Lbr. Co. once claimed to be the largest saw and door factory in the world.

City Votes to Buy Property From Paine Lumber Company

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau) Oshkosh—Prospects appeared bright for the re-opening of the million dollar Paine Lumber Co. plant here, which once employed 2,000 men, when the Oshkosh council in special meeting Monday night voted to purchase several parcels of land from the company for $57,500.

Vote on the resolution authorizing purchase of the land, to be used for city park purposes with possibly a trailer camp, was 22 to 8. The resolution, brought in by Alderman George D. Clark of the sixteenth ward, where most of the purchased land is located, had been laid over from a previous meeting. The original resolution followed an offer made by Nathan Paine, president of the Paine company and was contingent upon the company agreeing to employ a minimum of 125 men for a set period of time.

Other provisions of the original resolution followed action of the county board in November offering tax delinquent certificates of the company at less than their face value. These amounted to approximately $87,000.

It has been generally understood that if the city of Oshkosh purchased the parcels of land from the company for $57,500, the Paine company would bid in their tax delinquent certificates with the money. Health Habits Easiest to Forget, Speaker Tells PTA

Neenah—Challenging parents to take cognizance of their personal and public responsibility in the program for the prevention of tuberculosis, Miss Cava Wilson, supervisor of the Sunnyview sanatorium, told members of the Roosevelt Parent Teachers association Monday afternoon that diligent application of good health habits is very easy but the easiest thing for people to forget.

"Tuberculosis is not a new disease," said Miss Wilson, "but it is only within the last 25 years that new ways of treating it, new methods of control and prevention of the spread of the disease have become known."

With the use of charts, Miss Wilson explained how one case of tuberculosis caused ten other cases. "Deaths occur in homes," she said. "Winnebago county," said Miss Wilson, "has just as many deaths in the homes from tuberculosis as in the sanatorium. Statistics show that fewer deaths from tuberculosis are recorded now than several years ago but there still a great number, due largely to the great number of undiagnosed cases that transmit the disease to others and it does not become known until in the advanced stages."

Miss Wilson stressed the importance of knowing what to do to keep the disease from developing into an active case. "We know of many positive reactors and how many active cases there are but we must find the contacts in order to prevent further recurrence of positive reactors to tuberculosis tests," she said.

"If you know of an open case of tuberculosis in your community, it is your responsibility to report it in order to insure the future health of your children and other children who might come in contact with that active case and take in tuberculosis."

"Need Rest and Fresh Air" "Good food, plenty of rest and fresh air are essential to the prevention of disease and the greatest of these is rest for it is only through rest that the lung tissues have a chance to heal."

"If your child has a positive reaction following the tuberculin test, you can help prevent the development by taking that child to a doctor for regular examinations and X-rays. It must be a consistent health program. If every early case of tuberculosis could have a nice big hemorrhage, it would send that person to a family physician at once, and do a great deal to prevent the disease from gaining any headway. Unfortunately in early tuberculosis cases, there are no symptoms that can be easily recognized. There is loss of weight, fatigue and indigestion but those symptoms do not always mean a person has tuberculosis."

Miss Evelyn Scholl, city school nurse, who introduced Miss Wilson, told the parents assembled in the kindergarten room in the Roosevelt school that this spring more tuberculosis tests are to be taken again. She outlined briefly the work that had been and was being done with those children whom it was found reacted positively to the tests given in the fall. Miss Wilson emphasized again the need for cooperation of the parents with the school nurses in the program of tuberculosis testing as a preventive measure.

Seek Contact Cases "We must find the contact cases, the persons from whom those positive reactors secured the bacilli in order that we can really complete the prevention program. If the contact person is not discovered, he or she may continue to give that child the bacilli and preventive measures are to no avail."

"It is only the early cases of tuberculosis that we can offer a permanent and uneventful recovery if the program of consistent examinations and X-rays together with rest, good food and fresh air is carried out."

Mrs. G. A. Stadmueller, president of the Roosevelt PTA, announced that a committee which includes Mrs. E. E. Sanders, Mrs. R. P. Brooks, Mrs. A. C. Haselow, Mrs. Albrecht, Mrs. John Johnson, Mrs. Harry Johnson, to be known as the library committee, would work with the teachers in the school and buy books where needed and as long as there was sufficient funds.

Arrange Joint Meeting Mrs. William Block, Mrs. N. Burstein and Mrs. Carl Zielow will act as a committee from the Roosevelt PTA to work with the Washington PTA committee for the arrangement of a joint meeting of the two organizations to be held at Y. W. C. A. next month.

Students from the second grades presented a program prior to Miss Wilson's talk. Students from Miss Harriet Friedrich's second grade gave a dramatized story of Sallie Sam, played by Billy Lieber. The two readers of the story were Carol Booth and Lois Mielke. Suzanne Post was the goat; Beverly Hesse, the turtle; Marilyn Jertz, the deer; Tom Kuehl, the lion; James Howman, the leopard; and John Hase-low, the kangaroo. Those who sang included Robert Abrahamson, Richard Aylward, Charles Boushley, Jack Kakoski, Frances Lund, Walter Mertz, Eugene Peterson, Paul Robinson, James Rutherford, Thomas Sulph and Charles Green.

Miss Ruth Pitteck's second graders dramatized in song and those who took part included Suzanne Hesselberg, Dorothy Pauer, Joan Ehrhart, Jane Schaeffer, Stanley Drews, David Abraham, William Liskow, Donald Larson, Gene Ohelke and Richard Wege.

Shamrocks Will Continue Drive for Boy Conference Recognition

Menasha—After creeping into third place in the Catholic Boy conference as a result of a 16-10 win over St. Mary, Menasha, St. Patrick's Shamrocks will face another stumbling block when the team meets St. Theresa graders at Appleton Wednesday.

The Menashians have continued in a steady climb from eighth place in the league standing and a win over the second place Appleton squad will give the local team a chance to finish the season in second place.

St. Mary, Menasha, will travel to Kimberly Friday to tangle with the Holy Name cage squad. Holy Name is in fifth place in the league with 10 games won and 6 lost while the local team is holding down seventh place with 5 wins and 11 lost.

The league leading St. John team played yesterday at St. Mary, Appleton. The final result in the loop is still in doubt as the Menasha and Appleton teams in the first three games are running a nip and tuck race.

Delinquent Tax Matters Before Board Members

Fireworks Expected When Action Is Taken by Supervisors

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau) Oshkosh—Matters involving the sale of delinquent tax certificate of the Paine Lumber company, the Athearn hotel clubhouse, and the American Legion clubhouse were considered by the Winnebago county board here today and referred to various committees with little discussion.

However, fireworks were expected Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday when the illegal assessment committee and the finance committee make reports on these propositions. A petition was received from the Wisconsin Public Service corporation regarding an extension of the power line in the town of Winchester. This was referred to the highway committee.

The request of the Atley H. Cook, Post No. 70, American Legion, of Oshkosh for reduction of delinquent taxes of $800 to $200, was referred to the illegal assessments committee.

Oppose Offer

As expected, a bid for the delinquent tax certificates of the Paine Lumber company, was submitted by J. J. Davis, and officer of that corporation. His bid was $46,834.33 or exactly one half the face value of the certificates. This was referred to the illegal assessment committee. A report adverse to offering the delinquent tax certificates of the Athearn hotel company in the amount of $15,000 was presented by the illegal assessment committee, headed by Robert Heckner, Menasha.

His report stated: "It felt the Athearn hotel request was an outgrowth of the handling of the Paine certificate by the county board." It noted that, in several previous instances, adverse votes had been made on similar propositions.

Delinquent taxes long have been considered an asset to the county; the report said, pointing out that loans had been secured in the past on these certificates up to 50 percent of the value. The report asserted the Paine matter had been rushed through the county board without deliberation and noted that publication in the newspapers of the delinquent tax certificate sale had cost Winnebago county almost $1,000.

See Subsidy

The report claimed that selling tax certificates for less than their face value amounted to a subsidy to private business and was termed unfair to other county taxpayers discriminating between one debtor and another.

It was pointed out in the report that banks had refused to lend money to the Paine company and stated the committee recommended adverse action on the Athearn hotel resolution to prevent setting a precedent.

The report was signed by Robert Heckner, chairman, Clarence Fisher, E. T. Radtke, Harry E. Kalfas and L. B. Tripp. A resolution by A. E. Rehbein to accept the J. J. Davis offer for the Paine company certificates was referred to the finance committee. A resolution by E. G. Steinhilber to accept the proposition of the American Legion was referred to the committee on illegal assessments.

Have you "detective eyes" that can spot the "real thing"?

"DETECTIVE EYES"

Small appearing because of deep-set position, and because lids are habitually lowered in focused study, but to be understood from the inner edge of the brow. Horizontal wrinkles at eyes' corner edges, and puckered, reddish-overlaid lower section of the neck. Brows low and bushy.

A GOOD SLEUTH'S NOSE

Prominent but finely chiseled—and entire, lacking the coarseness of the "brute's" nose. Deep-veined crossing the bridge. Broad bridge below bridge. Nostrils tense, sensitive, and widely dilated. The extreme tip is pointed—and frequently a slight up-tilt is observed.

If you are an observant type, you'll note one whiskey in stores attracting crowds of eager people. Kentucky's "double-rich" straight Bourbon!

BUST THAT COLD WIDE OPEN

Don't Merely Check It With Half-Way Measures!

Deal with a cold in earnest. Deal with it as a seriousness.

A cold is too fraught with danger to be taken lightly. Many a case of flu and pneumonia has started with nothing more than a "common cold."

Treat a cold for what it is—an internal infection. Therefore, internal treatment.

Treat a cold with a preparation made for colds and not a "cure-all."

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is your answer to a cold.

It is a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds and not for all kinds of ailments.

It is internal in effect and it does four important things.

First, it opens the bowels, an important step in overcoming a cold.

Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attacks.

These are the four effects a cold calls for and in Bromo Quinine you get them all in the form of a single tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. It has been proven by more than 40 years of use.

When you feel a cold coming on—don't wait—don't procrastinate—but go right to your druggist and get a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

Class B Cagers Begin District Race at Kaukauna Wednesday

Galloping Ghosts, Menasha to Play In Feature Tilt

Clash in 8:30 Game: E. DePere, Clints Will Raise Curtain

KAUKAUNA—Six basketball teams from the Western division of the Eastern Wisconsin conference, one from the eastern division and one from the Central Wisconsin conference will start gathering here Wednesday for a Class B district basketball tournament. The winner will compete in a regional meet next week at New London for the right to enter the state tournament at Madison.

The opening night's program will feature two games, at 7:30 and 8:30. In the curtain raiser, East DePere of the Eastern division of the N. E. W. conference will take on Clintonville of the Western division. Picking the probable winner is a real job for both teams were looking good as their conference races closed.

Clintonville gave Kaukauna, New London and Menasha close games as the season drew to a close while East DePere bumped off Kaukauna and Algoma, both leaders in the Eastern race. Ray Heil coaches Clintonville and "Dad" Braisher bosses the East DePere five.

Kaws Play Wednesday
The second game Wednesday night will show a couple ancient foes from the Western division of the N. E. W. loop in Kaukauna and Menasha. The Kaws, coached by Paul Little, are aiming to take the tournament title, seeing they are on their home floor, and conference showings will be forgivable and forgettable. Menasha, coached by Nate Carlson, finished well up in the season's race with seven wins against five defeats while Kaukauna's record was the reverse.

On Thursday evening the two losers of Wednesday night will show in the first game. In the second, Neenah and New London are booked at 8:30. Recently the teams clashed at Neenah with New London looking tops.

Both teams will be keyed for the tournament and it is safe to say that if New London can turn the Rocks it will be a hard club to beat during the remainder of the meet for it is interested in wiping out a bad conference season. New London topped six games in conference play while Neenah won five and lost seven. Neenah is coached by Ole Jorgenson and New London by Delbert Stacey.

W. DePere vs. Waupaca
The 8:30 game Thursday night will bring together West DePere and Waupaca, the former coached by Al Reed and second place winner in the Western division of the Northeastern conference, and the latter coached by Augie Vander. Muelen and second place winner in the Central Wisconsin conference. West DePere, because of its conference rating is hoped to win the tournament title.

Following are the lineups of the squads:
Neenah—Donald Schmidt, Daniel Schmidt, Jack Hesselman, Robert Schultz, Harold Rabideau, Arthur Jackson, Frank Haerdt, Oliver Krueger, Warren Kettering, Donald McDermid, Ole Jorgenson, coach.
Waupaca—Kermit Johnson, Owen Hansen, Kenneth Schmitt, Fred Emerson, Roy Hollis, Clifford Bressan, Clifford Chaffee, Bill Christensen, Lawrence Court, Ward Sage, A. Vandermeulen, coach.

West DePere—L. Vansidine, C. Vaessen, C. Berken, R. Mann, V. Van Gruven, D. Latus, R. Utech, R. Clancy, R. Rae, A. Olson, Al Reed, coach.
Clintonville—Raymond Knitt, Frederick Kant, Harold Griswold, Eugene Thies, Leroy Schriever, Howard Bove, Florian Goerling, Robert Martin, Evan Hedtke, Harold Palmer, Jerome Hurley, Ray Heil, coach.

New London Squad

Rain Halts Golf Meet After 18-Holes Play

Miami, Fla.—Golfing defers of the Miami Beach and Johnny Revolta tugged out today to make more time of the links. Nothing that flashed in the inter-rational four-ball matches before a disrupted yesterday's play.

Picard and Revolta, striving for a third consecutive victory in the 4-year tournament which only once has seen the same team win twice, rolled up a two-hole lead on Gene Sarazen and Jimmy Hines before play was stopped at the 18-hole halfway point.

Tony Manero, national open champion, and Lawson Little were still even with Johnny Farrell and Willie Klein at the same stage of their quarter-final match, and Dick Metz and K. Laffoon likely to finish the opening 18 stroke for stroke with Harry Cooper and Jimmy Thomson.

HANK'S WRIST CONCERNS MICKEY

Just about everyone agrees that pennant chances of the Detroit Tigers this season depend a lot on whether the broken wrist of Hank Greenberg, first baseman, has healed properly. So, it was natural that one of the first things Manager Mickey Cochrane (right) did when spring training began at Lakeland, Fla., was to give the injured wrist a personal examination. Greenberg is confident it's all right again. (Associated Press Photo)

Boston Bees Don't Expect To Crash First Division

This is one of a series dealing with prospects of major league club

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—The Boston Bees are not shooting for a first division berth this year, but if anything untoward occurs up in the top flight, the Boston Bees expect to be right there to take advantage of it.

"It will take almost a miracle to crash into the first division," said Manager Bill McKenchie, who surprised one and all by leading his motley band of Buzards out of the National league cellar last season, "but it can be done."

"You know a couple of injuries can play a very devious with a pennant race and we intend to be close enough to the border line all season to dash across should one of the league's big shots fall down and go boom."

McKenchie therefore is concentrating on holding on to what he's got, plus trying to bump the Cincinnati Reds out of the leadership of the second division.

To bolster a wobbly pitching staff, the Boston scouts have corralled a bevy of veteran slabsters from virtually every large minor league in the country.

Of the 17 pitchers working out daily at Waterfront park 11 are first year men with the Bees and four are 30 years old or over.

From this crop, McKenchie hopes he'll glean enough to share the Bee pitching burden with the bespectacled Danny MacFayden, who compiled an earned run average of 2.87, only a fraction under Carl Hubbell's 2.71 in winning 18 and losing 8 for last year's team, and the veteran Guy Bush, another 1936 hold-over.

Some of the best looking of the newcomers are Lou Fette, 30, who had 25 wins against eight losses at St. Paul; Vic Fraser, 31, the one time White Sox who won 14 and lost 7 at Dallas; Bill Harris, 27-year-old veteran, with 15 wins and 10 defeats at Buffalo and Bill Perrin, a southpaw, who won 18 while losing only eight for New Orleans Perrin won 12 of his last 13 starts.

Two Seek Place On Boxing Squad

Madison—Ed Farrell of Seneca and Eugene Dille of Fond du Lac started a friendly rivalry today for the 145-pound berth on the University of Wisconsin boxing team vacated by retirement of Sid Hurwitz of Milwaukee.

Farrell probably will be named Coach John Walsh said, to oppose Fred O'Banion, Louisiana state welterweight, when the Badgers and Tigers clash at the field house Friday night. He is a former all-university lightweight champion and has been in training all season.

Dille, however, will make a strong bid for later assignments, the coach indicated. He was captain of the varsity swimming team which closed its schedule last night. Dille won the 145-pound contender's title two years ago and substituted for Hurwitz twice last year.

Hurwitz' sudden decision to devote more time to his studies forced forfeiture of the welterweight match to Duke University last Friday. The Milwaukee youth lost his first two matches this year.

The Louisiana Tigers, once the pride of the United States Senator Huey Long, will be fighting north of the Mason-Dixon line for the first time. Coach Walsh, who saw several "tiger veterans" fight in the national collegiate tournament last year, said Joe Gersack, 115, Ed Keenum, 125, Fred O'Banion, 145 and Captain Corville, 155 should give the Wisconsin entries in those divisions a great battle.

Arcadia Forfeits Its Class C Cage Crown

Pigeon Falls—(AP)—Acting on a protest filed by Independence High school, the board of control of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association yesterday ruled out Arcadia High school, which defeated Independence by a point last week to win the Class C district championship.

As a result, Independence will play Alma Center at Blair Friday night to decide which team will play in the Class C regional meet at Lake Claire next week.

Independence protested on the basis three Arcadia substitute players were ineligible because they played on other teams.

375,000 Spectators Saw Big Ten Games

Chicago—(AP)—Approximately 375,000 spectators watched Big Ten basketball teams play for the title, representing an attendance gain of more than 64,000 over the 1935-36 figures.

Minnesota, which shared the title with Illinois, set the attendance gain pace, with 22,141 more fans watching the Gophers' six home games than the 35-36 total of 47,839. Illinois showed a gain of 15,150 over last season's 29,443 total, while Iowa, never in the title running, registered an increase of 11,800 over the 27,500 which saw the Hawkeyes last year.

Wisconsin drew 47,745 this season against last year's 51,917 total.

The second game finds Marshfield and Medford pitted against each other on the same evening. Manawa will meet either one of these two teams in the second game. If the Wolves win the first game, their next encounter will take place Friday night. If the local team loses its initial battle, the second game will be played in the consolation flight Thursday night.

Purdue, Indiana Cagers Had High Scoring Teams

CHICAGO—Purdue and Indiana may have been shoved out of the Big Ten basketball title picture by Minnesota and Illinois this season, but the Indiana team had the kind of offenses most coaches dream about.

Purdue scored the greatest number of points, 511, and its totals of 190 field goals and 131 free throws were also top marks. In addition, the Boiler-makers had in Jewell Young the season's high scorer at 12 points. Indiana scored the second greatest number of field goals, 171, but dropped in only 97 charity points.

Illinois had the fewest personal fouls, 117, with Wisconsin having the largest total at 164.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: Count Vronski, who was blackmailing Anne Phelps with love letters, is shot to death in Anne's studio. Bigelow, the American from Paris, finds Anne and Karsanoff, the glamorous dancer, staring at the corpse. They hide by this time, whatever it was. And whatever trouble came of it would have to be met when it arose. Until then, nothing could be gained by alarming the old lady.

So he returned to the drawing room without mentioning the accident at all.

Anne sat on the stool at the old lady's feet and one of her hands lay in her mother's. They were talking together in low tones. Whether or not Anne had revealed the true story of the mysterious letters, Bigelow was unable to discern, but it was obvious at a glance that in some manner harmony had been restored between them.

"The two reach Karsanoff," asked Anne turning to smile at him faintly. She withdrew her hand from her mother's and opened her bag to powder her nose and examined her face in the tiny mirror of her vanity.

"Yes! She promised in the last extremity to seek Karsanoff on Hagedorn," he answered lightly.

"I have been telling mother about Lorna's disappearance," went on Anne, "but it appears the news is already out in the evening papers."

She reached for the newspaper that Mrs. Phelps had been reading as they came in with Chief Inspector Hagedorn and Bigelow saw a huge photograph of a dark, smiling beauty with the caption:

Lorna Dryden Disappears

What could it say, asked Bigelow, interestedly dropping into the chair opposite them that Hagedorn had occupied.

"No more than we already know," It seems that when the police turned up to arrest Dryden, Lorna protested that she couldn't be guilty because he had been attending a business meeting at his club on the night that Vronski was killed. That was evidently the story he had told her, but unfortunately it wasn't true. As she had gone to dine and dance with the Teddy Martineaus and Malcolm McElwinger at Mauges place, and the police apparently knew this, they did not attempt to question her further. This morning, however, when they went to ask her some question about a revolver, she said she had been in Dryden's possession, they learned that she had gone out 10 minutes after they had taken Dryden away and had not been seen nor heard of since. Inquiries of various relatives revealed no clue to the present whereabouts of the beautiful socialite," ended Anne concisely.

"Where do you suppose she has gone?" asked Bigelow of his aunt.

"How can I possibly imagine?" countered the old lady with a helpless shrug of her shoulders. "I was just discussing it with Anne. There are dozens of places she could go. For instance, to either one of her aunts, or to her grandmother's in Connecticut. It doesn't say in the paper whether she took her car. Then too she has lived in New York all her life and has literally hundreds of friends. I never knew anyone who had so many friends as Lorna."

Bigelow frowned. "Let's tackle the problem another way, then. Her husband is arrested and for some reason or other she makes up her mind on the spur of the moment that the clever thing for her to do is to disappear. She is afraid to pack anything for fear her intention will be suspected or perhaps she simply doesn't want to take the time. She knows that she can borrow things temporarily or else she has enough money on hand to buy what she will require. Saying no to the servants, she quickly leaves the house as though she is merely going out for an hour or two."

The two women were following him in complete absorption.

"Now then, she discards the idea of going to her aunts or to her grandmother at once. If the police try to find her they are certain to inquire there first of all. Of course her relatives might agree to hide her, but there might be too much risk of discovery to make that plan desirable. She vetoes the idea of a hotel, too. She'd have to register. Even if she registered under an assumed name, the newspapers have photographs of her and they're

Latest Materials for Home Builders Will Feature Show

Housing Display Opens Wednesday At Castle Hall

More Than 40 Appleton Firms to Have Individual Exhibits

The latest materials which the building industry has to offer prospective home builders will be on display for five days during the third annual Knights of Pythias home show which opens at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Castle hall. The show will run continuously each afternoon and evening until 6 o'clock Sunday night.

More than 40 firms, all connected with some phase of the building industry, will have individual booth displays and exhibits. Both floors of Castle hall will be lined with worked-out ideas for improving and beautifying homes.

For those persons desiring to re-furnish their homes, firms have prepared special printed pamphlets telling of the latest designs and improvements. Exhibits featuring new furnishings also are planned.

Plan Entertainment
Besides the many varied displays, the home show committee has arranged an elaborate program of entertainment. The style shows which proved a hit of the first two Knights of Pythias affairs will be staged each evening at about 9 o'clock with two Appleton firms providing the mannequins.

Miss Hilda A. Wunderlich is in charge of the fashion display for Wednesday and Thursday evening while Herbert M. Goldberg of the Fashion Shop will stage the style shows Friday and Saturday evenings. Musical entertainment is planned for afternoon and evening sessions each day.

Because large crowds jammed Castle hall each evening last year, the committee urges Appleton residents to attend in the afternoon so that they will have more time to carefully study the displays offered. Representatives of the various firms will be on duty at all times to explain the new methods of building and furnishing homes.

Expect Large Crowds
Although local people probably will form the largest crowd at the show, it is expected that home owners from every section of the Fox River Valley will attend. Prizes will be awarded patrons as in other years.

Doors will be opened at 2 o'clock each afternoon with the show running continuously until 11 o'clock each night except Sunday. R. O. Smith is general chairman in charge of arrangements, with H. F. Heckert, secretary and treasurer; C. C. Nelson, business manager; William C. Demstedt, assistant business manager.

Workmen today are arranging the booths at Castle hall and erecting special displays which the Knights of Pythias committee has planned. Exhibitors include Standard Manufacturing company, Lutz Ice company, Appleton Glass and Paint company, Henry Schabo and Son,

New Hot Water Heater May be Used as Table

Several manufacturers of automatic hot-water heaters have developed units which may be placed in the kitchen and which serve as a utility table as well as a water heater. They are so designed that they form a unit of the same height as the counter shelf in the kitchen and are of such dimension that they fit well into the general layout of the kitchen equipment.

In this manner the hot-water heater is always available for inspection and adjustment and at the same time the well-insulated enclosure of the tank serves a dual purpose. The units may be obtained for either gas or electricity, and a considerable selection of sizes is available.

Professional Advice

Needed on Lighting
Where the services of a lighting engineer or architect are not retained for planning store illumination, the advice of an expert from the local electric company or of a lighting dealer or contractor should be obtained.

General rules are of little value in determining the type of lighting units to be used. There are efficient, glareless, attractive lighting fixtures of all kinds on the market to choose from, and the best for particular requirements should be recommended by an experienced lighting man who has made a study of the merchant's premises and understands his problems.

Home Plumbing Needs Expert Servicing

The services of an experienced plumber are essential in constructing or modernizing a home. The finest plumbing fixtures cannot give adequate service unless they are correctly installed and unless the supply, waste and vent piping in the walls and under the floor is

Foundation of Home Differs With Location

Section of Country Should Determine Type to Be Used

What type of foundation to build for a home is a question which should be determined by the local conditions, the availability of materials, and the price that the builder can afford to pay.

Where cellars are to be included, stone, brick, concrete units, or cast concrete are the common materials, while in some sections of the country terra-cotta tiles are used. Any of these will serve in places where the soil is reasonably free from water, but where bad weather conditions exist a cast foundation is to be preferred.

Except where soil has unusual weight-bearing qualities, footings should be laid under all foundation walls. Where they are laid they should extend beyond each face of the wall for a distance equal to one-half of the thickness of the footing, any excess width is of little or no value. For instance, with a footing 8 inches deep, a four-inch projection on each side of the foundation is all that is needed. To put eight inches on each side is just a waste of material.

Where bad soil conditions are encountered, it is sometimes necessary to lay spread footings which are pyramidal in form with either sloping sides or steps. Where soft spots appear only at certain places under a wall, they may have spread footings as described, or reinforcement may be placed in the portion of the footing covering these spots. Do not skimp on the foundation; unless that stands solid the whole superstructure will be affected.

Charts in Color Help To Visualize Rooms

Interior decorators with an understanding of people have discovered that it is difficult for prospective customers to visualize the appearance of a room for which decoration is contemplated.

As 35 per cent of human impressions come through the eyes, it has been found a simple and satisfactory method to make drawings in color of the completed rooms. The sketches offer something tangible, approximating finished results in coloring and plan to the customer. This reduces the strain on the imagination, prevents disappointment, and saves time.

correctly designed and properly installed. Heavy expense is avoided, and the health of the family is protected if plumbing fixtures, valves, pipe, and fittings of good quality are installed under the supervision of a plumbing expert.

HERE IS A MODERN DINING ROOM

When this house was planned, provisions were made for a large dining room, because the owner entertained frequently at dinners and luncheons. Four windows in the room allow for plenty of sunlight, and the size of the room permits servants to pass freely when serving a number of guests.

Interior Wall Finish Should Help Guide Selection of Basic Materials

In selecting the wall materials for the new house, the room finishes desired should be given careful consideration. So, start with the inside finish that is to be used and work outward, for some materials work better with one finish and other materials with another.

For instance, if the walls are to be papered, the material on which the paper is to be applied should be smooth. If smooth paint is to be the finish, the same applies. If a rough or textured paint finish is desired, then the field of wall materials is considerably broadened. For a textured-paint base, wallboards may be used with the joints filled and taped.

If no other insulation is to be placed in the walls, an insulating wallboard or an insulating lath is desirable. If insulation is to be placed between the studs or is provided in the sheathing, then other lath may be used.

Many of the insulating wallboards are made with a finish that can be used without any other decoration. They are made in tiles and sheets of various sizes and with a variation of surface texture and shade that makes a very pleasing wall for some types of room, and the joints between the boards are cleverly concealed.

Plywood is another possibility that is coming more and more into prominence for the dry wall, and it is made in various types of hardwood finish as well as with the less expensive soft wood.

Soap lasts longer if it is well dried out. As soon as the soap is received the wrappers should be discarded and the soap piled loosely in a dry place.

No Garbage Pail in Modern Residence

Housekeeping has been made so simple by modern appliances that the average housewife does not realize to what cumbersome processes her grandmother had to use to accomplish the same results.

Electric washing machines in place of an old wooden tub on a bench in the yard with an iron kettle over a fire to provide hot water; electric dishwashers instead of a large metal dishpan that had to be carried to the back porch and emptied, modern ranges when once the meals were prepared in the kitchen fireplace; electric lights instead of candles.

Only one feature of housekeeping has remained until recently much as it was for great-grandma, and that is the unpleasant subject of garbage. Most of us living in individual houses still have to keep a pail in the kitchen and scrape our dishes and throw our waste-foods into it, and then carry that out to some place where the garbage can is kept and empty it.

But the end of this anachronism is in sight, for we can now connect an electric machine under the sink, dump the garbage in the sink, turn the switch, let a little cold water run and in two or three minutes it has all disappeared. No kitchen pail, no garbage can, no careless collector to spill it over the sidewalk.

Small bath towels light in weight but firmly woven are easier for children to handle than larger, heavier towels. They are generally easier to launder, too.

Building Paper Has Major Role In Modern Home

Function of This Material Is to Seal Joints And Cracks

Building paper, although one of the cheapest, is one of the most important materials used in the construction of homes.

The function of building paper is to seal all the joints, cracks, and crevices and to protect the lumber and flooring which have been used. It should be applied over the sheathing boards, under the roofing, under the floors, and for flashing around windows unless copper is used for this last purpose.

By preventing wind, drafts, moisture, and dust from entering the dwelling, a home is more easily heated and kept clean. A sufficiently strong building paper will not require the use of caulk to hold it in place against damage by the wind and this is a distinct advantage in the performance of the paper.

Building paper is built in permanently and is practically impossible to repair. Care should be taken that the proper type is used in the first place, making repairs unnecessary.

Convenient placing of cooking supplies and utensils in the kitchen will do much to lighten the work of preparing the family meal. Utensils needed for cooking should be placed near the stove. If it is possible, the china cupboard should be located near the sink so that dishes may be put away quickly once they are washed.

Fresh ham is cooked in the same manner as any other cut of fresh pork. Allow at least 30 minutes per pound. Serve the ham with apples, sweet potatoes and a green vegetable.

New Linoleum Designs Prove Very Popular

The use of linoleum as floor covering is becoming more and more popular since the linoleum manufacturers have brought out new designs suitable for the drawing room and bed room, as well as for the kitchen and bath. Especially with the modern trend in decorations is linoleum appropriate, as the rich plain colors can be used most effectively in decorative schemes, and the infinite variety of design that is made possible by the inlay method allows the decorator free rein in laying out the floors.

Not only are its decorative qualities appealing but the ease with which it can be taken care of and its long life and freedom from wear make it attractive to the housewife and the servants. Wax can be applied just as it is to a wood floor, and the spots in front of the door or under the desk, where shoe leather mars the finish, can be brought back to a high luster without going over the whole floor.

Extra Expenses Justified for Home Plumbing

Built-in Tub Is Almost a Necessity in Modern Home

While the cost of plumbing fixtures should correspond to the general cost range of the house, it is one of the places where extras are justifiable if there are to be any at all. A built-in tub is almost a necessity in any house, no matter how low the cost of the house. As a matter of fact, although there is a difference in price between the built-in tub and the old-fashioned type on legs, it is doubtful if the actual cost installed is much, if any, greater. With the built-in type, the wall finish back of the tub and the floor finish under it are both omitted, and their cost may well equal or exceed the additional cost of the tub. But even if it costs more, the saving in care and trouble that a built-in tub gives is worth a much greater difference than exists between the costs of the two fixtures.

The toilet may be the wash-down type, which is the least expensive, or it may be a siphon-jet type, which is the most expensive. The difference is almost entirely a matter of quietness of operation. If this means much, the difference in expense will be justified.

As for the lavatory, there is not so much justification for selecting an expensive type, for the inexpensive one will serve as well. The main difference is that of material. The cheaper grades are made of enameled iron, and while this is perfectly serviceable, it does not wear quite as well as the more expensive porcelain. However, with reasonable care and the use of proper cleaning materials, an enameled fixture is quite satisfactory.

Good Lighting Saves Eyesight

Children Doing School Work are Entitled to Modern Lamps

Few parents tolerate willful neglect of their children's home work. But how many parents take pains to provide the best study conditions for their children? Perhaps that is one reason why more than one fourth of our young people suffer from some form of defective vision. It is asking too much to expect satisfactory progress in school when the lighting under which the child studies at home causes eyestrain and nervous fatigue. Yet many homes in Appleton afford nothing better than little table lamps—far less light than is absolutely necessary for good vision.

The common type of lamp fails to provide light sufficient in quantity for reading, writing or studying. The shade is so designed that most of the light is directed beneath it, with very little diffusing to the side where it is most needed. Sometimes these lamps throw a shadow, making vision even more difficult.

The lamps approved by the Illuminating Engineering society give a scientifically balanced and diffused light, and there is no glare.

Most of our knowledge, and a good part of our success, comes to us through our eyes. By providing our children with the proper lighting for reading and study, we will be doing much to insure their welfare and happiness in later years.

CARD PARTY AT DUNDAS
Dundas—A card party, sponsored by the Altar society, was held at the St. Francis Parish hall Sunday afternoon. Prizes in schafschopf were awarded to the following: Mrs. Clarence Ewing first for women; and Mrs. James Cooney, second; and men's prizes to Joe Gerrits and Anton School first and second, respectively.

Color in Kitchen Makes It Gayest Room of Home

Modern kitchens, in vivid contrast to those of a decade or two ago, are gay, colorful and amusing. They're a great source of pride to a home-maker.

Many women have discovered that it is a simple matter to transform the dingiest, most uninviting kitchen into a beautiful room. It's mostly a matter of an attractive color scheme. Walls gloss painted in light colors are easier to wash and doesn't absorb grease. Colorful woodwork and a smoothly finished floor form the perfect background for all the new and amazing kitchen gadgets that have been created to facilitate housework.

There are dozens of places where paint can add color. The cabinet drawers or the handles, the dust pan, the broom handle, the waste basket, the garbage pail, shelf edges, the cup hooks and the kitchen furniture.

In choosing a color scheme it's better to figure on combining at least three colors rather than the more usual two. Several bright and harmonious colors give a kitchen more personality. There are so many attractive color schemes to choose from these days that it isn't hard to find one that will bring you daily pleasure.

Would Prohibit Red Lights on Advertising Signs

Claim Such Use Is Traffic Hazard on Highways

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—All advertising billboards, signs, or symbols near or on a public highway which use red lights will be prohibited under the terms of a bill introduced in the assembly by Assemblyman William Sweeney, De Pere Democrat.

Sweeney's proposal, introduced as a substitute to a bill presented by Elmer Genzmer, Democrat, Mayville, which would have prohibited red light signs within 100 feet of a highway, would prevent, he said, advertising signs being mistaken for red warning signals, or traffic lights. Advertisers would be allowed to use all other colors in their lighted signs, he explained.

The bill says: "It shall be unlawful for any person to place or maintain or display upon or in view of any highway, any sign, red light or device, which purports to be or is an invitation of or resembles, or may be mistaken for an official traffic sign or signal, or which attempts to direct the movement of traffic or which hinders from view any official traffic sign or signal."

Every such prohibited sign, signal or device is declared to be a public nuisance and any police or traffic officer is empowered to remove the same, or cause the same to be removed, without notice.

Penalty for the first conviction would be a $25 fine and for the second within a year, $100 or 30 days in jail.

Sweeney declared that the bill would be particularly valuable for railway safety, citing a recent railway collision due to an engineering confusion among red lighted signs, and danger signals.

Walks Ice Barefoot To Win This Wager

Butte, Mont.—(U.P.) Money has burned pockets, but in this case M. W. Jones' feet tingled.

With the thermometer snuggling at 15 below zero, he wagered a friend he could walk across Main street, barefooted and unassisted with all popular aids to locomotion, including bicycles, roller skates, crutches and stilts barred.

Before a good-sized audience Jones made the trip from sidewalk to sidewalk across the ice and said his feet "felt better than they ever did since I left Missouri." He won $5.

Report General Boom in Planing Mills of State

Both Employment and Production Higher in 1935

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Planing mills throughout the country reporting to the census bureau, indicated a general boom in the industry in 1935, both in employment and production.

The number of wage earners increased over 1933, 26.5 per cent, the amount of their wages 61.5 per cent, and the value of planing mill products 55.9 per cent, according to the report.

In 1935, 48,290 wage earners were paid $42,178,933 as compared with 1933, when 35,338 wage earners received $26,116,897. The value of planing mill products increased from $117,032,847 in 1933 to $182,512,205 in 1935.

The most important planing mill product is dressed lumber, according to the bureau of census, the production of which increased from 7,124,332 thousand board-feet, valued at $135,029,297 in 1933, to 9,936,578 thousand board-feet, valued at $225,237,206 in 1935.

Planing mills operated in conjunction with saw mills produced more than the "independents," and also shows a considerable increase in 1935 production over that of 1933. Total 1935 production of these combined mills was valued at 213,665,665 in 1935 as compared with $132,987,430 in 1933.

Production of doors in 1935 reached an aggregate value of $20,236,275, $17,114,969 of this amount produced in independent planing mills and the rest $2,559,700 produced by planing mills operating in conjunction with saw mills.

Of this total, the greatest number of doors, 4,003,149 were made of fir with a total value of $3,482,512. Production of sash in 1935 totaled 19,993,655, valued at $11,972,863. Almost all the production of sash was in independent planing mills—with only 216,755 produced in mills operating in conjunction with saw mills.

Soil erosion costs Oklahoma farmers $100,000,000 annually through reduction of crop yield and increased costs of producing crops on poor soil, according to estimates.

Slope of Ground Must Allow for Drainage of Surface Flood Water

In building a house it is very important to locate it on the lot so that the ground around it will slope away from the house. This slope may be hardly perceptible, so long as it is sufficient to drain surface water away from the house instead of toward it. On a flat lot this is a matter of seeing that the foundation is dug to the proper depth. Before excavating is started, therefore, the level of the proposed first floor should be established with respect to the existing grade. This should be done with a surveyor's level, and when the correct height is determined it should be marked by driving a spike into a nearby tree or scoring a rock or by some other similar method. Driving in a stake is dangerous, for stakes may be knocked down or driven deeper and then the mark is lost.

Of course, on a sloping lot the problem is not so simple, in this case the ground on the up side of the hill must be arranged in a ridge with a V-shaped gully that will divert the water which runs down the hill to either side of the house. Another thing to be careful of is to see that no dry wells or other drainage units are placed so near the house that the water seeping from them will run against the foundation walls.

Preservatives Add Considerable Life To Modern Homes

There are a variety of methods for the preservation of wood which is subjected to abnormal weather conditions and, in some localities, attacks by insects.

The effectiveness of any good wood preservative is measured largely by the depth to which the preservative penetrates. There are various ways of applying preservatives, but the most satisfactory means is by impregnation under pressure and by the use of pressure.

Preservatively treated wood may be tested for penetration. Creosote oil is indicated by a dark discoloration and can be determined by taking a sample at a point free from imperfections. Zinc chloride and other colorless preservatives can be tested with chemicals.

Preservatives will not make weak timbers strong nor restore strength to timber which has been partially destroyed by decay. It should be applied to sound wood after it is cut and framed in order that all exposed parts may be treated. If some cutting after treatment is unavoidable, hot creosote oil may be applied to the exposed surfaces.

Maple sugar mixed with equal portions of chopped nuts makes a good topping for tiny biscuits to be served for tea. As soon as they are baked the biscuits should be spread with butter and served hot.

Poor Wiring Is Both Expensive, Hazardous

Inadequate wiring may be both expensive and hazardous because, instead of carrying the flow of current easily, it sets up resistance to the flow of current. This may cause the wire to heat, and the current consumed by the heating is wasted before it can serve either lights or appliances. This undesirable condition is known as excessive voltage drop, and it should be noted that often, although safety requirements are met, the wiring still may be inadequate and current wastage will result.

Plumbing Tells Age of Residence

Modern Fixtures Better Looking and Are More Efficient

Nothing going into the construction of houses and apartments has changed so much in the last few years as plumbing. Modern plumbing fixtures are not only better looking, but are more efficient and cost less to maintain.

Until a few years ago plumbing fixtures were built for utility only. The tub stood on legs, the closet had a high tank and the lavatory had no particular distinction in the design of its basin or supports. Today all plumbing fixtures except the very cheapest have a beauty of form that has enabled the plumbing contractor to make the bathroom the most beautiful room in the house.

Provide More Comfort
Instead of the ugly tub on legs the modern bathtub is a beautifully designed streamlined fixture that fits snugly on the floor and against the walls. It is much easier to get into and to get out of.

The design of the lavatory basin has been changed to rectangular, which makes washing easier and minimizes splashing. Sink space has been increased by the use of a combination faucet and drain control mechanism.

Lavatory styles include the wall hung and solid pedestal types and newer models with slender and graceful legs. Recent innovations include a combination lavatory and vanity, and a lavatory with space saving cabinet underneath.

Many Matched Designs
Modern plumbing fixtures may be obtained in matched designs; that is, the lines of the lavatory and tub harmonize perfectly with the lines of the closet, the accessories and the faucets and fittings.

Closet seats may be obtained in almost infinite variety of colors to blend or contrast with the colors of the fixtures and the wall materials. Faucets and fittings have become

A graceful arched doorway leading from the hall increases the feeling of spaciousness in the room and assures adequate light for the hall. Revive New Interest In Wallpaper Designs

With the development of the new washable papers, wallpaper has had a remarkable revival in the last two years. Many new homes are being decorated with paper of new designs and harmonious colors.

The improvement in design and color has been an important factor in renewed interest in wallpaper. Besides a revival of the best of the colonial and early European designs, artists have devised many

The home show model home is a splendid example of how attractive a small house can be made with wallpaper. Colors are warm and cheerful and the paper in each room is especially fitted to that room.

The paper in the child's room is especially attractive. Many visitors have said it is one of the finest decorative and practical things they have ever seen.

Electric Cord Will Last Longer if Treated Right

Don't roll cords up tightly and put them away in drawers when not in use. Hang them up. The cords of electric irons are particularly hard worked. It is best to plug an iron in by means of a wall outlet about waist high and at the right of the operator. If you must use a low outlet get a flexible arm to fit on the end of the ironing board to hold the cord up out of the way. This will facilitate ironing as well as take a strain off the cord.

Lease Portion of Store for 5 Years

Gamble Stores to Take Over South Section of Cristy's Building

Waupaca—A deal was consummated Monday whereby Cristy's leased the south section of their store, now given over to men's and boys' clothing, furnishings and shoes, to the Gamble Stores, for a term of five years, beginning May 1. Cristy's plan to close out those departments and to continue to operate the dry goods and women's ready-to-wear departments. Both stores will be remodeled and complete new fixtures and merchandise will be installed.

Ben Dance, president of the Lions Club, notified the club at its noon day meeting, Monday, that he had received word from George Dobins of Fremont, past district governor, that a joint meeting of the five clubs in the county would be held at Hotel Marston, Clintonville, on the evening of April 12, at which time Dr. Wesley Boyden of Brillion, district governor, will address the club. Wives of the Lions will be guests of the club.

The five clubs include Manawa, Clintonville, New London, Waupaca and Weyauwega. Emil Jasmann of Stevens Point, formerly of Manawa, was a guest of the club at the invitation of the program committee, and discussed "Evils of Our Monetary System," recommending that the monetary system should be in the hands of the United States government, and not in the hands of private interests, represented by the Federal Reserve bank.

Four Methods Of Insulation

Reduction in Fuel Cost Will Pay for Material in Few Years

Four types of insulation for homes are in general use throughout the country, and all give satisfactory service. The four types are rigid or board form, metallic foil and the fill. Insulation became general as the public learned the fuel saving as well as comfort qualities of such material.

Some rigid insulating boards have sufficient structural strength to be used as sheathing. Used in the requisite thickness to give the required reduction in heat transfer, large savings can be effected in materials and labor. Most rigid insulations are offered in forms suitable for use as plaster bases. They also may be used to eliminate plaster and sometimes even painting costs.

Fill type insulating materials have proved their value in stopping fires in walls. Many types have greater or less value as sound insulation, according to the way they all installed.

Suggest Various Wall Finishes For Bathrooms

Tile, Paint or Paper May Be Used in Modern Room

The bathroom is the one room in every house where the question of wall finish is always one for discussion. A few years ago a bathroom whose walls were not tiled in shiny white just wasn't a real bathroom at all. Then came the colored tiles, and peach and green and orchid flourished in every new house that was built. Later came a swing in sentiment back to the old days of wallpaper or paint, and plaster walls again were used. Where "dry" construction without plaster was desired, wallboard was used. New tastes are mixed, and all these walls are found in new houses. The appeal of the clean look of tile and the range of colors available has won many adherents; waterproof walls of appropriate designs still appeal to those who like greater variety; the simplicity and ease of applying paint make many prefer that medium. So, you may take your choice and be sure it will be in keeping with that of many others.

As a matter of fact, it is not the wall covering that is the really important thing but the wall behind it. That portion around the tub must be waterproof, especially if there is a shower over it. With tile the wall behind must be of cement plaster which can be made waterproof. With paint or paper, however, ordinary plaster is often used, and this is not waterproof. That portion around the tub should be of Keene's cement plaster, which is much more water-resistant than ordinary plaster and, barring cracks, will make a satisfactory wall.

Italian "Savagery" Is Assailed in Britain

London.—Members of the house of commons today assailed the "savagery" with which, they said, Italian troops in Addis Ababa carried out reprisals against natives suspected of the recent attempt to assassinate Viceroy Rodolfo Graziani.

Replying for the government to questions, Viscount Grantham, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs said:

"Although his majesty's government have been unable to get full information, it has been learned that the soldiers took severe reprisals, causing a large number of deaths and extensive destruction of property."

Following the wounding of Graziani and several of his aides by bomb-throwing Ethiopians, stated scores of Ethiopians were tried summarily, taken to the edge of Addis Ababa and executed by firing squads.

Talk Shows Men 'Dull' And Women are 'Catty'

Minneapolis.—Men are "dull" and women "catty" declare J. Spencer Carlson, Elroy Stromberg and Stuart W. Cook after a "psychological study" of 604 conversations during symphony concert intermissions.

The three investigators summarized their findings like this: Women devote 50 per cent of their conversation to talking to women about women; the remaining 50 per cent is devoted to men, music and weather. In that order.

Men's conversations were 25 per cent about music, 4 per cent about weather and the rest about money and women—in that order.

DEFIES "13" JINX

Clay Center, Kas.—J. Newt Glace, farmer, wants no more "13's" in his automobile license.

Born on Friday, February 13, Glace defied superstition by obtaining license number 1313. During the year grasshoppers ate up his oats and wheat, drought played havoc with other crops and he spent several weeks in the hospital for a serious illness.

Boiler Manufacturers Turning to Modernism

With the universal desire to use basement space for recreation purposes, boiler manufacturers have given special thought to the construction and appearance of boilers.

The modern boiler with its colorful jacket of steel is handsome and attractive, particularly the deluxe models in which everything, including the dampers, controls, oil burner, and gages, are concealed or recessed within the jacket. Underneath the jacket is a thick covering of insulation, which provides further assurance that all the heat of combustion will be transferred to the water.

Board and Utility Discuss Moving Of Transformers

Bids Also Sought at Kimberly for New Police Automobile

Kimberly.—The village board will advertise for bids on a new police car until March 22 as a result of the various prices received from auto dealers at a special meeting Monday evening. Representatives from the August Brandt Ford company, Appleton; Van Zeeland Plymouth garage, Kimberly; Gustman Chevrolet company and William Van Lieshout Ford company, Kaukauna, attended the meeting.

The board is seeking bids on a standard automobile coach fully equipped with provisions that a successful bidder take in trade the old police car.

Each representative explained the qualifications of his car. The board will meet March 22 at which time it will open the bids. The police and fire commission also attended the meeting.

William Montgomery of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company explained that the company will cooperate with the board in moving the transformers whenever it is ready. He told the board that it would cost his company between $2,500 and $3,000 to move the transformer and hoped that a suitable place would be found so the move would be permanent. Some of the board members suggested moving them on the depot road.

It was brought out that if the village would expand as it has in the past the same problem would arise. Residents living or owning land near the transformers petitioned the village board for the move. After some discussion the board laid the matter over to the next meeting.

Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, will talk on food problems for children at the home economics room at the high school at 7:30 Tuesday evening, and Miss Janette Clausen, children's librarian, Appleton, will talk on reading material for children.

Hazards of Fire Make Precautionary Methods Imperative in Residence

In the United States there are now 323 municipalities containing 27,534,000 people—representing 22 per cent of the national population—which demand protection from fire hazards.

The ever present danger of fire in home dwellings has enforced this ruling as a precautionary measure and as a safeguard to lives and property. It is a reminder, too, to the American home owner of the advisability of utilizing every means available during the construction or modernization of his home to promote safety and to protect his family against fire hazards.

On the market today are materials, machinery, and equipment, designed and constructed to offset fire risk in the home. Their use may mean security from danger.

Statistics indicate that the operators of manufacturing and mercantile establishments through constant vigilance and strict observance of fire ordinances have reduced the number of fires occurring in such places of business. Fires in home dwellings, however, have increased until now between 55 and 60 per cent of all fires in the country occur in dwellings.

It is estimated that a dwelling-house fire occurs every two minutes and that the total loss from home fires alone amounts to more than $35,000,000. According to Percy Buzbee, expert of the National Fire Protection Association, much of this vast sum might have been saved, because the great majority of dwelling fires may be traced to causes easily corrected. Careless disposal of rubbish, combustible roofs, defective or dirty chimneys, thoughtless use of matches, and improper use of kerosene and gasoline are responsible for many of these fires which sometimes cause serious disasters and always mean disturbing damage.

The home owner makes the utmost effort to provide comfort and convenience for his home. To make his enjoyment of this home complete, if he will give the same consideration to its safety as he does to its pleasure; living appointments he will add immeasurably to its protection and will greatly minimize its fire risk.

Hollywood News And Gossip

Hollywood.—Frank Capra, turning explorer in Hollywood, brings back from the sound stages a trophy from another world. The title is "Lost Horizon."

To remark that the film forsakes the beaten celluloid track is but to repeat the obvious to the thousands who read James Hilton's novel, the strange remote Utopia labeled Shangri-La, and of Robert Conway, who found it clung to it. Shangri-La, all but inaccessible.

Vote Referendum At Clintonville On Nurse Question

Council Rescinds Action And Puts Matter Up To Voters

Clintonville.—After receiving many letters and telephone calls protesting the hiring of a city nurse Mayor A. A. Wasson and the aldermen held a special meeting Friday evening for the purpose of reconsidering the action taken at the regular council meeting on the preceding Tuesday evening. At that time the councilmen voted unanimously to hire a city nurse for one year at a salary of $15 a month. On Friday evening the council rescinded its motion and passed a resolution to refer the matter to the voters at the general city election on April 6. The question for referendum will be "Shall the city of Clintonville hire a public health nurse?"

Hog Prices Ease As Supplies Grow

Receipts at Chicago Stockyards in Excess of Advance Estimates

Chicago—Hog producers stepped up the volume of marketings today to take advantage of the last week's substantial upturn in prices but the increased supply caused a 10 to 15 cents drop in the market.
 Receipts totaled 21,000, or about 4,000 head more than expected. Top rank to $10.35.
 The cattle market was active. There was nothing on hand valued to sell at yesterday's $15 peak, but some good steers sold up to $15.50. Few, however, brought more than $12.50.
 The lamb market was slow but sellers were holding their best offerings around $12.25 or unchanged to a sharp higher market.
 Livestock commission men announced an increase of approximately 8 per cent in rates they charge farmers for handling shipments, effective April 1.

Supreme Court Studying Seven Labor Law Cases

Lawrence Sees Administration Fight as Attempt To Swing Decisions

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Behind closed doors, in the secrecy of the conference room of the supreme court of the United States, nobody but the nine justices knows what's going on, but it is a safe assumption that never in the history of the United States has there been a parallel situation.

Before the court is a series of seven lawsuits, all touching on the right of Congress to enact a law taking away certain rights of citizens hitherto believed to have been free from congressional interference. All seven cases grow out of the passage by Congress of a labor relations act which attempts to penalize employers for so-called "unfair labor practices" without at the same time requiring any corresponding abstention by employees from committing the same acts.

While the supreme court, which has heard argument in all seven cases, is deliberating on what the final opinions shall be, a controversy has been precipitated by the president of the United States, who has been the quality of previous decisions and the capacity of the justices themselves to render decisions because of their advanced age.

Were the attack on the supreme court impersonal or abstract, it would be in accord with attacks on the court made by other presidents of the United States. But never has there been any public attack on the supreme court which could be construed as a threat to influence the decisions of the court in a pending case. Most persons here would not have been disturbed by the president's attack on past decisions, but lawyers say an attack on the court with respect to a pending case is unprecedented. Thus, Mr. Roosevelt, in his radio speech last week, spoke of the pending cases on the Wagner Labor Relations act as follows:

Wants Approval
"Furthermore, court injunctions have paralyzed the machinery which we created by the National Labor Relations act to settle great disputes raging in the industrial field, and, indeed, to prevent them from ever arising. We hope that this act may yet escape final condemnation in the highest court. But so far the attitude and language of the courts in relation to many other laws have made the legality of this act also uncertain and have encouraged corporations to defy rather than obey it."

The customary way for the executive branch of the government to argue its cases is in a direct appeal to the supreme court in a formal hearing granted for that purpose. The attorney general and his staff being afforded ample time for the presentation of oral and written arguments. When litigants have concluded their presentation, it is the practice for the cases to be left to the justices to decide. Arguing of the case in the newspapers or before public meetings in an effort to mobilize public opinion against the court is not considered to be in conformity with the American system of arguing the case and then leaving it to the judges to decide.

Argued in Court
After decisions are rendered, comment in criticism is expected and public discussion of the opinions is natural. Even before cases have been fully argued, there is often public comment, but the government itself has for many years observed the propriety in arguing its cases in the supreme court chamber and not on the stump.

The court probably is not giving any consideration to these aspects any more than it is formally discussing in any way the controversy over whether it shall consist of nine or fifteen members hereafter. What is before the court is a question of the validity of the Wagner Labor Relations act, raised in seven lawsuits. Many spectators came into the court room yesterday hoping to hear the opinions of the court in these labor cases, but the probabilities are that the supreme court will not render its opinions for three weeks. The general assumption here is that, when the court gets ready to decide the issues, it will hand down opinions covering all seven lawsuits on the same day. This will give the public the benefit of the supreme court's views on all aspects of the law and will prevent a confusing situation from arising, such as might result if, one Monday, the application of the law in a certain case is upheld and, on a subsequent Monday, another aspect is considered invalid.

Five Decisions
While there are seven lawsuits, many lawyers believe they can be covered in five decisions, inasmuch as the issues are more or less alike in two or three instances.

The Associated Press case may turn on the freedom of the press clause of the constitution, and the Wagner act may be held invalid as interfering with constitutional guarantees.

As for the Maryland Coach case, the fact that the employer is engaged in interstate commerce is conceded and even the constitutionality of the act may be upheld, but its application may be considered wrong. The hope of the government is that, in this case, the right to regulate the labor relations of bus drivers will be put on a parity with the right already exercised by Congress with respect to railway employees.

In three other cases, however, the Jones and Laughlin steel case, the Fruehauf Trailer company case, and the Friedman-Harry Marx Clothing company case, the issue turns on whether the federal government may regulate businesses engaged in production or whether this is a right safeguarded to individuals or to the state governments.

If the supreme court opinions in the NRA and the Guffey cases and a long line of decisions are followed by the court, the three cases might possibly be decided in favor of the companies and not the labor relations board. One thing seems certain—the supreme court is occupying itself with the merits of the legal questions involved. If it is not and the decisions run contrary to all precedents, this will undoubtedly be the first time that presidential demands that the supreme court bow to political sentiment have ever been made or successfully attained their objective.

$5 License Bill Again Will be Before Assembly

Referendum Is Proposed In General Election In 1938

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison—Assemblyman William Rohan's favorite bill, that providing for a flat $5 automobile registration fee, will be before the state assembly once more Wednesday morning, this time with two amendments. Repeatedly thwarted in his design to obtain a license fee reduction for the benefit of "the poor farmer and the laboring man," Rohan as a last resource last week introduced a resolution calling for a popular referendum on the question.

The Kaukauna member had intended to have the question brought before the voters at the forthcoming spring election, but since the deadline for the filing of referendum proposals was last Wednesday, Rohan has persuaded his friend and colleague, William Sweeney of De Pere, to prepare an amendment asking that the referendum be submitted to the people in the general election of 1938.

The Sweeney amendment, and another by Assemblyman E. D. Hall, Monroe Progressive, which would incorporate in the referendum question the claim that a license fee reduction will increase general property taxes by more than $5,000,000 will come before the house on tomorrow's calendar.

The Rohan bill has received two unfavorable votes on the floor of the assembly, and was reported for postponement by the assembly committee on highways. Progressives in each instance maintained that the state's highway program would
